NATION HONORS WASHINGTON

Little Virginia Town of Alexandria Buried Under Flags as President Coolidge Arrives To Aid in Anniversary Celebration

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 22—Literally buried beneath flags and bunting, and inordinately proud of its distinction, this placid little Virginia town led the nation today in honoring the memory of George Washington. Under the day's schedule, the nation's highest, headed by President Coolidge, and the first families of Virginia, led by Gov. and Mrs. Harry F. Byrd, will join in a fitting ceremony incident of the 196th anniversary of the birth of the father of the country, bringing to Alexandria the most distinguished gathering it has entertained in some years.

A reception to President Coolidge and the honor guests, to be held in the Carlyle House, and a big patriotic parade will feature the day's events. It was in the historic Carlyle House—known as "The Birthplace of the Constitution"—that the taxation of the colonies, later to bring on the revolution, was conceived. Later, it became the headquarters of General Braddock, commanding the British troops, and there Braddock and Washington had their famous meeting.

The homes and streets of Alexandria were well-known to Washington, and everywhere today places of historic interest revolving around his activities were focal points for the crowds. Just 120 years ago, Alexandria had a birthday fete for Washington which he attended personally. The date, however, was Feb. 11, that being the date upon which he actually was born, and the switch from the Julian to the Gregorian calendar accounts for the 11 days difference.

As recorded in the Alexandria Gazette, oldest paper in Virginia, the hero of the Revolution made the rounds that day "drinking toasts" everywhere.

President Coolidge will make the journey from Washington aboard the Mayflower.

Because of her recent illness, it was believed that Mrs. Coolidge not risk the trip. Her physician feared a large reception and several hours in a reviewing stand might result in a relapse.

Governor and Mrs. Byrd, aided by officers of the Washington Birthday Association, will act as hosts at the reception. Invitations have gone out to 1,200, including all of Congress and the State Legislature.

A Henry Ford Suit
What We Shut Out
Some Other Toad

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

GEORGE WASHINGTON was born 196 years ago today. Lying in his vault at Mount Vernon, he seems close to all of us. It is difficult to realize that he died one year before the last century began.

This country has had two great statesmen, Washington and Lincoln. When will the third appear? What will he do?

Washington established the nation. Lincoln preserved it. Number three, perhaps, will improve it.

THOSE that once owned Lincoln Motor Co. stock accuse Henry Ford of deceiving them. The public impression is that the Lincoln company was a failure, Ford took it up to save an old friend from failure, bankruptcy and poverty. And of his own accord Henry Ford paid the debts of the bankrupt concern that he put on its feet.

PROMOTERS of South American investments inform you that the population of Rio de Janeiro has increased nearly a million in eight years, Buenos Aires more than a million in fourteen years. Agricultural population has increased enormously in South America.

ALL that is due to our immigration laws, which keep out of the United States the white European populations that we need, the men and women that made this country what it is.

Shutting out such immigration, we build up other nations.

That's inaccurate; foolishness wonders. Science knows that it is not the same toad.

SCIENCE also knows that when you take grains of wheat from the body of an Egyptian mummy, plant it and it grows, you are not planting the seed that was buried with the mummy. That seed would not grow.

OPEN HOOVER DRIVE HERE

REALTY BOARD WOULD RETAIN CAR SERVICE

Members Say Effort Should Be Made To Avert Abandonment of Lines

SUGGEST FARE INCREASE

Claim Two-Cent Boost Would Establish System on Profitable Basis

That efforts should be put forth by city officials and citizens generally to retain streetcar service here was the consensus of opinion expressed by the Marion Real Estate Board at a meeting yesterday and this view was backed by a unanimous vote of the members present.

The action was merely an expression of sentiment and did not include any recommendation to be conveyed to council, R. T. Lewis, president of the Real Estate Board, stated following the meeting.

He said, however, that the realtors made their attitude clear in regard to future transportation facilities for the city.

Suggest Joint Service

They believe that negotiations should be entered into for the purpose of ascertaining whether arrangements can be made to continue operation of the street car system and suggest that buses might be run as an auxiliary service.

The Marion Real Estate Board, its president stated, is not taking a stand in behalf of theC., D. & M. Electric Co or any other transportation company. The action taken at yesterday's meeting was solely for the purpose of expressing the realtors' views on what they regard as the city's transportation needs.

Should the C., D. & M. refuse to consider acceptance of a new street railway franchise under any reasonable terms, the Real Estate Board members believe that a contract might be negotiated with some other company.

1,000,000 Passengers

It was reported at yesterday's meeting that the local street railway system carried approximately 1,000,000 passengers last year. It was pointed out that on the basis of this volume of business a two-cent fare increase would establish the service on a profitable

FIVE LOSE LIVES IN PITTSBURGH BLAZE

Eleven Others Escape When Apartment House Is Razed by Fire

Pittsburgh, Feb. 22—Five members of one family were burned to death and 11 persons escaped when an apartment house was razed by fire here early today. One man was taken to a hospital suffering from burns.

The dead: Konstance Kozakiewicz, 45; his sons, Steven, 19, and Phillip, 15, and two daughters, Mildred, 11, and Stanley 7. Another son, Louis, 21, was burned on the arms and face and cut on the body.

Firemen were unable to reach the scene of the blaze on account of the icy streets, and sounded a second alarm to secure additional hose lengths.

By the time they reached the burning house, the entire upper floors were a mass of flames. They rescued Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slavy and their five children on the first floor, and several boarders.

The flames started in the Kozakiewicz apartment on the second floor.

$100,000 in Gems Taken from Wealthy Society Matron

New York, Feb. 22—Gems valued at more than $100,000 have been stolen from the wealthy and socially prominent Mrs. Jonathan Bulkley, of Park Avenue, it was learned today.

Despite denials by police officials it was learned that Mrs. Bulkley had been robbed of a pearl necklace, a diamond bracelet, two solitaire diamond rings and other jewelry.

The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Bulkley's maid, Ida Kaempfer.

HINKLER COMPLETES LONG SOLO FLIGHT

Flies 11,000 Miles in 15 Days and Wins $5,000 Lloyds Policy

London, Feb. 22—Completing one of the greatest long distance solo flights ever made, Bert Hinkler, British aviator, arrived safely today at Fort Darwin, Australia, according to an Exchange telegraph dispatch from that city.

Hinkler's last hop was from Bima, Dutch East Indies, to Fort Darwin.

Hinkler left Croydon Field, London, on Feb. 7. Since then he has flown 11,000 miles.

His record for the flight from England to Australia is 12 days less than the previous mark.

Piloting his 30 horsepower biplane, Hinkler accomplished his remarkable flight in daily stages averaging 750 miles each day.

By completing his flight, Hinkler receives a $5,000 policy from Lloyds since he fulfilled the condition that he would reach Australia within 18 days.

The aviator now intends to fly the 1,620 miles from Port Darwin to Bundaberg, where his mother lives and where a tremendous reception awaits him.

WANTS DIVORCE

$15 a Week Clerk Tires of Being Kept By Wife

New York, Feb. 22—The question of whether a $15-a-week husband can get a divorce from his heiress-wife on the ground of "personal independence" was before the court today.

Paul Pryibil, who earns only $15 every seven days as a clerk, filed suit for divorce in Florida from Mrs. Edmee E. Pryibil, heiress to $4,000,000, on the ground that he was tired of being supported.

Mrs. Pryibil, daughter of the late Rudolph Schaefler, brewer, through counsel, asked Supreme Court Justice Joseph Callahan to restrain Pryibil from pressing his action. Mrs. Pryibil contends that her husband is a resident of New York and therefore barred from obtaining a divorce action in another state.

DESTINATION OF LINDBERGH NOT REVEALED

Carries Enough Gasoline for 600 Miles and Four Passengers

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22—Carrying sufficient gasoline for a 600-mile flight, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from Lambert Flying Field this morning for a destination he refused to reveal in order to avoid the huge crowds that have greeted him at landing fields. He headed west.

The silver Ryan monoplane bore the numerals 4034 on the wings.

Lindbergh carried as passengers H. M. Bixby, president of the chamber of commerce; Harry K. Knight, president of the flying club here; Frank H. Robertson, head of the Robertson air mail contracting firm and B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Air Lines, Inc., maker of "The Spirit of St. Louis."

The colonel would not say how long he planned to remain at his unknown destination or whether he planned to go elsewhere before making his scheduled trip to Albany, N. Y., and Boston, where he is to appear on Feb. 29 and March 1.

RATE SCHEDULE IS DECLARED INVALID

Utilities Commission Directs C., D. & M. To Make Contracts Conform

A proposed schedule of rates filed by the C., D. & M. Electric Co. for furnishing electrical service to the Alloy Cast Steel Co. was declared invalid yesterday by the State Utilities Commission and the C., D. & M. was directed to file a new schedule to conform with a contract previously in effect between the two companies.

In the contract originally entered into about 15 months ago, the C., D. & M. agreed to furnish service at the basic rate of 1.1 cents per kilowat. In the proposed new schedule, filed in Jan. 17 and ruled out yesterday by the commission, an increase to 1.4 was provided.

Grant E. Mouser, one of the attorneys for the Alloy Cast Steel Co., stated today that the C., D. & M. will have the privilege of filing another schedule applying for an increase, and that if this is done, another hearing before the commission will be necessary. W. P. Moloney, attorney for the C., D. & M. was out of the city today and no information was available regarding the probable steps to be taken by the company.

Levine and Stultz Will Try To Get Plane in Air

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Feb. 22—Charles A. Levine and his pilot, Wilmer Stultz, were to make another attempt to get off today in the Bellanca plane Columbia for an endurance flight. On Monday the gasoline tanks were removed and inspected, and last night they were replaced.

The plane may either try the endurance flight or, if conditions are not the best, may fly to Cuba.

Miss Mabel Boll, the "Queen of Diamonds," was to accompany the fliers if Cuba is decided upon as their destination.

Disputed Point in Jail Board Bill Controversy Is Cleared Up by Sheriff

Number of Prisoners Kept by County for City 144 Instead of 1,442, Deal Explains; Change in Law Causes Confusion in Report

A disputed point in the county jail board bill controversy between county and city officials was cleared up today by Sheriff James A. Deal when he announced that figures published regarding the number of prisoners fed at the jail were not entirely correct.

The figures as published listed a total of 1,442 city prisoners for the period from Sept. 26, 1926 to June 30, 1927. This total, the sheriff said, is the record of the number of days served by his boarders. The actual number of prisoners received from the city during that time was only 144.

The cost of board for that time was $1,081.50, figured at the rate of 75 cents a day, the 144 men being imprisoned a total of 1,442 days.

Since June 30, 1927, a new law has been in effect which places the jail board on an actual cost basis. Meals during that six-month period cost an average of 16.8 each.

The total amount due from the city for board of its prisoners is estimated at approximately $3,300, which includes a finding of $1,227 returned against the city by a state examiner for the board prior to Sept. 26, 1926.

City officials have indicated that they will take no steps toward paying the alleged indebtedness until the county settles a city hospital bill for a man who was wounded by a shot fired by a former sheriff.

The county has refused to pay this bill, asserting that the city should collect from the bonding company which furnished surety for the ex-sheriff.

It was indicated at the county commissioners' office yesterday that they will call for an early conference with city officials to iron out their differences.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN PEASANT REVOLT

Ukraine Rebellion Flares Up as Result of Oppressive Taxation

Bucharest, Feb. 22—Hundreds have been killed and wounded and thousands have been arrested during a serious peasant revolt in the Ukraine, reports from Kishinev stated today.

The revolt flared as a result of oppressive tax measures by the government, the reports said, especially the practice of confiscating grain as payment for back taxes.

In Poltava Gubernia, where artillery surrounded and destroyed the rebellious village of Novoia Pasjer, hundreds were reported killed.

At Nejin, 26 peasants were executed. They were charged with the murders of more than 100 tax commissioners.

It was stated that there have been more than 1,000 arrests during the week at Kiev, Odessa and Kharkov.

Tale of Heroism in Rescue of Woman From Seas is Told

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—A tale of extraordinary heroism, of the rescue of a woman from mountainous shark-infested seas, while 450 passengers watched, was told with the arrival here today of the Anchor Liner California, from Bermuda.

The battle to save the woman, Mrs. Luther Z. Rosser, wife of an Atlanta, Ga., supreme court judge, lasted 45 minutes, the latter part being fought in semi-darkness with the ship's spotlight playing on the scene.

The rescue took place in Grassy Bay, three miles off Hamilton, Bermuda. Mrs. Rosser was left in a hospital there for treatment.

One of 180 passengers returning to the California on a tender, Mrs. Rosser was buried into the sea by a giant comber. E. C. Higgins, cruise conductor of the vessel tore off his coat and shoes and dived in after her. Judge Rosser ran to the rail to follow Higgins, when other passengers shouted:

"Stop that man. He can't swim."

He was finally overpowered and four men sat on him.

Meanwhile, Higgins was swimming strongly towards Mrs. Rosser. His light had guided the attention of the California, anchored half a mile away, and [illegible] were lined by [illegible]

SUPPORTERS OF SECRETARY FIRST TO FILE

Backers of Commerce Director Beat Willis Forces to Pole

H. B. HANE FOR DELEGATE

Prominent Findlay Republican Slated as Other Eighth District Candidate

Supporters of Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination beat the forces of Frank B. Willis to the pole here yesterday by filing the first entry for the presidential preference primary to be held on April 24.

Declaration of candidacy for delegate to the national convention was filed at the Marion County Board of Elections office for Henry B. Hane, president of the Marion National Bank, who pledges his support to Hoover.

He named James R. Garfield of Mentor, O., son of President Garfield, as his second choice.

Official consents signed personally by both Hoover and Garfield accompany the declaration.

First Indication

This is the first definite indication that Hoover supporters are to wage a fight for convention delegates in the eighth congressional district. It was stated that the other candidate for delegate will be a prominent Findlay Republican.

Mr. Hane's declaration was filed here by one of its signers, J. C. Thompson of Findlay. Thompson indicated that a Hoover organization will be formed in the district and that it will include a strong branch in Marion County.

Mr. Hane said that although it is probable that Hoover supporters will be strongly aligned in Marion County, he knows of no definite steps taken thus far to organize.

Sentiment Strong, Claim

"Hoover sentiment is very strong here," he stated.

His declaration of candidacy was accompanied by a certificate signed by R. C. Grove, J. C. Thompson, A. F. King, A. B. Bloomingdale and A. L. Marcin, all of Findlay.

The Willis slate of candidates for delegates from the eighth district was drawn up at a conference of organization leaders held here recently at the office of Fred W. Warner, state Republican chairman. It will be filed with county boards of election throughout the district on or before Feb. 24, when the filing period comes to a close.

ASH WEDNESDAY IS OBSERVED IN CITY

Marion Churches Begin Penitential Season of Lent with Services

Services in observance of Ash Wednesday and the beginning of the Lenten season were being held in a number of the churches of the city today. Special devotions in keeping with penitential season will be held throughout the six weeks preceding Easter at St. Mary's Catholic Church, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Emanuel's Lutheran Church and St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.

Ashes were distributed at the high mass at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Church and also will be distributed at the Lenten devotions tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Services will be held each Sunday, Wednesday and Friday nights during Lent. Services will be held each Friday night at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and each Wednesday night at Emanuel's Lutheran and St. Paul's English Lutheran Churches.

WOMAN IS VICTIM

Tries To Prevent Man's Suicide Only To Be Shot Herself

North Tonawanda, N. Y., Feb. 22—Mrs. Helen Dyla, 30, was shot and killed in her home here early today while attempting to prevent Felix Sapia, 36, a boarder, from carrying out a suicide threat. A policeman summoned by another boarder, forced his way into the house and fired two shots at Sapia. The latter is dying.

Helen Dyla, the woman's 16-year-old daughter, told police that Sapia locked her and her mother in a room with him and told them he intended to commit suicide. The girl said he threatened to kill them if they screamed. When Mrs. Dyla asked his aid in an effort to wrest the revolver from him, the weapon was accidentally discharged and a bullet pierced her body.

PLAN FLIGHT

Will Attempt First Round Trip Flight to Paris

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 22—Plans for the first round-trip air flight between New York and Paris were announced here today.

Capt. Ted Burke and Roger Williams, pilots, and Lee K. Holland, mechanic, will attempt the round trip flight early in June. They will stop in Paris for fuel.

Sheldon Clark, wealthy sportsman and son of vice president of the Standard Oil Co., will back the flight.

Burke, a local aviator, was recently a flying companion of Charles Lindbergh.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR DEMOCRATIC MEET

County To Be Represented by 12 Delegates at State Convention

Plans for drawing up a list of delegates for the state Democratic convention were discussed at a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Marion County held yesterday at Hotel Marion.

The county is to be represented by 12 delegates, who must be elected in the presidential preference primary on April 24. Declarations of candidacy for the 12 and also for 12 alternates must be filed with the county board of elections on or before Feb. 24.

The committee endorsed C. G. Ritzler of Green Camp for reappointment as a member of the board of elections.

The Republican county committee, it was announced today, is also making arrangements to list state convention candidates for the April primary.

The state convention is to be held after presidential nominations are made in June. At the state gatherings, platforms are to be adopted and the party nominees formally endorsed.

RADIO COMMISSION MAY BE EXTENDED

Body Will Likely Be Held Over Until March 11, 1929

Washington, Feb. 22—The Federal Radio Commission probably will be given another year in which to solve the problems of the air.

After weeks of bickering, conflicting House opinions were harmonized when the Radio Sub-Committee of the House Merchant Marine Committee agreed to recommend passage of a Senate bill extending the commission's life from March 16, 1928, to March 16, 1929.

The decision willl be submitted to the full committee on Thursday, with approval indicated. Speedy action will be sought by sponsors of the measure, since the commission will become an appeal board on March 16 unless Congress acts.

The entire membership of the subcommittee, embracing opposing groups on legislation, decided that the commission has not had a fair chance, Rep. Rowbottom, Republican, of Indiana, chairman, said.

Fight Over Mississippi Plan Threatens To Delay Action

Washington, Feb. 22—A three-sided split over flood control on the Mississippi today threatened to force delay in congressional consideration of the Reid bill reported by the House Flood Control Committee.

Compromise proposals are being framed in the War Department and by House leaders in an effort to harmonize contending forces.

The majority of the House Flood Control Committee was standing pat on its proposal that the government pay all costs, a special commission with the president as dictator be named and the work limited to the Misssippi below Cape Girardeau, Mo.

FIFTH ORDER ISSUED IN LEGION CAMPAIGN

Statement from Carl F. Ebert, Chief of Staff, Traces Drive's Progress

"General Order No. 5," was issued today from the American Legion Dugout, S. High-st, by Carl F. Ebert, chief of staff in the "war" being waged by three divisions of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, for enrollment of new members.

The order announces awards will be made for the "single-handed capture of prisoners." The order also includes the following official "communique," relating to progress of the warfare between the three Legion groups, known as the amry, navy and marine corps:

"Our Intelligence Service reports that the morale of the enemy is rapidly weakening, and this is believed to be the case as individual stragglers and deserters are coming in and giving themselves up. This is a very good sign that our drive is beginning to be felt. It is also reported by these stragglers that a large brewery is located on the River of Doubt about 15 Kilos from 300 members stronghold. This brewery is working day and night turning out large quantities of lagar beer, which the enemy consumes as fast as produced. This is greatly weakening their power of resistance.

"Our combined forces have advanced 1½ Kilos. through No Man's Land toward 200 members trench and enemy resistance is materially lessened. Our forces should reach their first objective not later than March 28, when the second phase of the drive will be launched."

ON LAST LEG

Two Leaders Are But 40 Seconds Apart Today

Quebec, Que., Feb. 22—The neck and neck final 40 mile duel for victory in the Eastern International Dog-Sled Derby opened here this morning between Emile St. Goddard and Leonard Seppala. Young St. Goddard, whose lead over the Alaskan is only 40 seconds, sent his dogs over the starting line this frosty morning with a bantering cry of "Toby," "Toby," to his veteran lead dog whose eagerness to win seemed hardly less than his master's.

Seppala, bareheaded in his parka, his long wavy hair giving him the look of a virtuoso, made his usual speedy but unspectacular getaway, his malemutes behaving as if the last 40 miles were a great lark.

AGENCIES URGED TO FORM BANK CONCERN

Annual Meeting of Ohio Livestock Cooperative Association Opens in Columbus

Columbus, Feb. 22—Suggestion that the 13 National livestock agencies pool their resources and from a national bank featured the morning session of the annual meeting of the Ohio Livestock Cooperative Association here today.

The suggestion was made in an address by A. F. Potter, of Cleveland. He pointed out that the Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati agencies handle over $25,000,000 worth of livestock each year. By pooling their resources, Potter said that a national bank could be established with over a $1,000,000 reserve fund.

At a meeting of Pittsburgh Producers Cooperative Commission Association held last night, the following Ohio directors were elected; Irwin Porteus, Coshocton; E. C. Rector, Circleville, and Fred Dorn, South Solon.

The address of J. F. Walker, Gambier, is expected to feature this afternoon's session. Walker has just completed an eight months tour of countries that afford the chief competition to American farmers in the cattle field.

According to the registration clerk, more than 500 representatives of livestock agencies are in attendance at the convention.

Those attending from Marion are Roland Lesper, service manager of the Marion County Farm Bureau Shipping Corporation, and his assistant, Leland Sour.

AUTO RACERS OUT TO SET SPEED RECORD

Triplex Machine Equipped with Reverse Gear; Two Others Will Start

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 22—Equipped with a reverse gear in compliance with the rules of the American Automobile Association, J. M. White's Triplex Racer will today again attempt to break the world's speed record established here Sunday by Capt. Malcolm Campbell. Ray Keech, driver of the Triplex who was scalded when his water line broke from vibration Monday just as he passed the beginning of the one mile course at a speed he claims to be 240 miles per hour, was almost recovered today, and will be at the wheel.

Campbell was expected to take out today his Napier Bluebird in which he established a speed record of 206.95 miles.

White's Triplex will attempt to break the record at 2 o'clock and Frank Lockhart, of Indianapolis, in his Stuts Special, at 3 o'clock. This order of racing was established last night when the three drivers drew lots.

REAL ESTATE BOARD WOULD RETAIN CARS

Members Say Effort Should Be Made To Avert Abandonment of Lines

lusis. According to figures made public by A. F. Van Deinse, president of the C., D. & M., the local street car system operated last year at a loss of approximately $7,000. A fare increase of two cents would eliminate this deficit and leave a margin of profit of $13,000.

The Real Estate Board, however, does not intend to suggest that council make concessions in regard to fares or any other feature of street car operations, president Lewis said.

Favor Bus Fees

Should street cars be eliminated and buses substituted, the city should receive revenue from the bus company granted the franchise sufficient to cover the cost of street maintenance and other expense resulting from use of the public thoroughfares, the realtors agreed in yesterday's discussions.

The meeting, held yesterday afternoon at Hotel Harding following luncheon, also included discussion of council's plans for enactment of a building ordinance which would establish official inspection of all building construction work. Harry Stock was named as chairman of a committee to co-operate with council in drafting the ordinance and placing the new department in operation.

In connection with the board's campaign for city beautification, President Lewis was authorized to enter into negotiations for remedying conditions at two prominent points in the city.

Outstanding Eyesore

One of these places is the city lot, located at the intersection of Church and Prospect-sts, where the rear of Main-st business blocks is exposed to view and presents what has long been regarded as one of the city's outstanding eyesores.

The other is a junk yard located east of Union Station, where it can be seen by passengers on trains passing through the city.

The Real Estate Board is of the opinion that billboards erected at these places to shut off the unattractive views would be a decided improvement. Mr. Lewis, it was stated, will propose installation of billboards to the railway company and city council.

A billboard advertising company, the realtors were informed, has indicated that it will co-operate in the project if granted permission.

The plan for the city lot is to erect attractive billboards along the east line high enough to completely shut off the view of the rear of Main-st business properties. The boards would be built partly of lattice work covered with vines.

Friday night several members of Canby Lodge will attend a Wyandot County Pythian meeting in Carey. The principal address is to be given by Rev. Frederick S. Atwood, prelate of the supreme lodge.

BERLIN TAXI PASSENGERS INSURED FOR INJURIES

Berlin—Every taxi passenger in Berlin must be insured for at least $6,000 against accident and death, according to a decree of the Berlin police.

The insurance must be paid by the taxi owner.

This compulsory insurance was found necessary because many Berlin taxis are owned by their drivers, who own nothing else and therefore was unable to pay damages in case of accident. The taxi itself cannot be taken away from them, according to German law, because it is their only means of subsistence.

The maximum insurance for several persons is $18,000.

PRINCESS MARY HAPPY OVER JOURNEY TO EGYPT

London—Princess Mary is looking forward with considerable pleasure to the sightseeing trip she is to take to Egypt in the spring. The Princess has never been out of Europe, and has had only three trips outside of the Kingdom.

Before her marriage she was abroad twice—once with her mother to visit the Queen' aunt, the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, in Germany; and again during the war with the King and Queen to visit the British troops in France.

Her last acquaintance with the Continent was during her honeymoon in 1922 when she and her husband, Viscount Lascelles, visited Lady Sybil Scott, Lord Lascelles cousin, at her villa at Florence.

HAND IDENTIFIED AS GALION BANK BANDIT

Two Witnesses Testify Man Was One Who Participated in Robbery

Bucyrus, Feb. 22—Arthur Hand has been positively identified as one of the band of men who held up customers and employes of the Galion Commercial Savings Bank last June and escaped with $175,000.

Identification was made this morning by two state witnesses.

The first witness on the stand for the state was Edgar Beall, cashier of the Galion bank, who said that he recognized Hand as one of the men who staged the robbery. Identification was also made by Mildred Clemons, Galion, a customer in the bank when the robbery was staged.

Beall went on the stand at 9 o'clock and was under cross examination by state and defense attorneys until 11 o'clock. The state was expected to call two or three more witnesses, all employes of the bank, this afternoon.

Hand, who proposed to act as his own attorney, did not participate in the cross examination of the witnesses other than to object to certain testimony.

The jury panel was filled at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. After being sworn in the jury was taken to Galion to view the scene of the robbery.

The jury is composed of one woman and eleven men.

George Hand, a brother of Arthur Hand arrived in Bucyrus from Chicago this morning and is attending the trial. Wilbur Hand, convicted of participation in the Galion robbery and now awaiting the decision of the Lima Court of Appeals, is also attending the trial.

BAKER MUSIC STORE TO BE DISCONTINUED

Henry Ackerman Piano Co. Becomes Exclusive Owners of Business

A deal of wide interest in business circles was completed yesterday when members of the Henry Ackerman Piano Co., S. Main-st, became exclusive owners of the stock and equipment of the Baker Music Co., W. Center-st. The new owners plan to continue handling many of the same lines of musical merchandise carried by the Baker company, and according to plans, employes of the store will become members of the Ackerman Piano Co.'s force following a closing out sale which will end March 17.

Prior to a re-organization a few years ago, the Baker Music Store was owned for more than 20 years by its founders, A. W. Brinkerhoff and Sons, of Upper Sandusky, and was managed for many years by the late George W Baker, leader of Baker's Band, and an active member of musical circles here. Prior to the transaction yesterday the company was made up of a group of local people with E. O. Fields serving as president and maanger, and R. C. Snare, secretary and treasurer.

The H. Ackerman Piano Co. is one of the city's oldest business establishments, and founded by Henry Ackerman in 1869, who maintained an active interest in the business until his death in December, 1923. Present officers in the company are O. H. Boyd, president and general manager and Henry Ackerman, grandson of the founder, secretary and treasurer.

WANT ACREAGE CUT

Adopt Means of Keeping up Price of Cotton

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 22—Cotton growers of the south will be given one more opportunity voluntarily to cut their acreage ten per cent. and devote the rest of the plantations to diversified farming, but if on Oct. 15 next, the price of cotton is below normal, the governors will cause their legislatures to convene and consider acreage reduction by law.

With this final warning, the conference of governors of the cotton growing states closed a two-day session here last night.

Executives favored government flood control, declaring that if the Mississippi River is a national highway, then it is the duty of the federal government to maintain it is such.

BRITAIN SPENDS BIG SUM FOR LIQUOR AND GAMBLING

London—The revelation that England spends one-quarter of its annual income on liquor and gambling was made here in a recent speech by The Right Hon. Philip Snowden, M. P., Chancellor of the Exchequer in the first labor government.

The estimated annual expenditure on drink and gambling, Snowden said was $2,800,000,000, representing one fourth of the nation's income. In the last seven years, he declared, England has spent $10,000,000,000 on liquor alone.

"If one-tenth of the amount that is spent on drink were diverted to the purchase of cotton goods," Snowden said, "there would not be one loom or spindle idle in Manchester today."

U. S. LEATHER SHORTAGE REASON FOR INCREASE

Leeds, Yorkshire, Eng.—Leather exported from Leeds to the United States, shows an immense increase, according to the American Consul's annual report on the declared exports from Leeds.

In 1926 dressed leather to the value of $410,900 was exported to America. Last year the trade was more than trebled, the total being valued at $1,402,655.

The shortage of leather in America, it is declared, is due to post-war conditions.

UBLE-TRACKING IS TARTED BY D. T. & I.

...fication of Road Likely To Be Completed Within Three Years

...Charleston, Feb. 22—Reports ... from Detroit indicate that ...tracking and electrification ...D. T. & I. Railroad, owned by Henry Ford, auto and rail magnate, will be extended to this place and south to the end of the line within three years.

The work has been started at Flat Rock, Mich., and comprises a section 28 miles in length between Flat Rock and Petersburg, Mich.

Plans for the work are summarized to include further extension of the electrification, with sub-stations created at intervals of 100 miles to furnish additional current and auto-transformers every 20 to 25 miles for stepping up and maintaining the necessary voltage.

The D. T. & I. system of electrification provides for a 60-cycle three phase alternating current of 11,250 volts which is converted in a substation at the northern terminal into a 25-cycle, single-phase alternating current of 23,000 volts for the trolley wires.

Motor generator locomotives collect this line voltage and convert it into 600-volt direct current for the traction motors. By this means, the range of power is increased with economy, transmission losses are decreased, return ground currents are smaller and a lighter trolley is permissible.

Gasoline cars have been used for some time on the Ford railroad with considerable success, but it is expected that the electrification process will eventually eliminate all other forms of motive power.

LIVESTOCK LOSSES ARE CHECKED HERE

Report Provides Evidence Sheep-Killing Dogs Are Disappearing in County

Evidence that activities of sheep-killing dogs have been at least temporarily checked in Marion County is seen in recent reports filed by Dog Warden Dale Rhoads, which show that no livestock losses from attacks by canines have been listed in the county for three weeks.

The third successive report listing no damage to livestock was filed with the board of county commissioners yesterday, covering the week ending Feb. 18.

This three-week record, county officials state, is one of the most favorable in recent years and is regarded as an indication of effective results from the new dog license law.

100 Dogs Rounded Up

In taking the county dog census during the last few weeks, the warden and his deputies rounded up more than 100 stray canines. All of the captives were killed after being held for three days at the county pound to give owners an opportunity to claim their property.

The warden is of the opinion that stray dogs have been mainly responsible for raids on farm livestock and he believes that by eliminating that class of canines the damage to stock will be greatly reduced.

Fourteen dogs were seized and destroyed by the warden last week. His report shows that thy came from the following localties: Lincoln-av, two; Prospect, two; Richland township three, and one each from Sharp-st, LaRue-pk, Davids-st, Owens and Prospect-pk; Marion-Agosta-pk, Superior-st and Fountain-st.

SAYS AMERICANS TACTFUL AS THEY ARE GENEROUS

Paris—"Americans are as tactful as they are generous," writes the Duc de Trevise, President of the Societe la Sauvgard de 'Art fancais, in a recent article of a prominent art review of the capital.

"When they have ful' confidence in any orgainzation, they do not demand a share in its control," he goes on to say. "Thus it was that in 1920, the Society of which I am the President, formed fifteen committees in the United States and obtained more than a million francs, without any request from America for participation in the direction of this Society."

The Duc de Trevise finds that special mention should be made of Mr. Bosworth, architect to John D. Rockefeller, who, on the very day of his election to the committee, learned that the ancient fief of Bois-Rame, should be saved.

Repairs were speedily made on the charming XVIth century dwelling and as rapidly paid for.

Theatrical People Throng Church For Foy Funeral

New Rochelle, N. Y., Feb. 22—Eddie Foy went to his last resting place yesterday.

Six hundred mourners, most of them women, thronged the Church of the Blessed Sacrament here, where Father Pasquale Manzelli, an old friend of Eddie, assisted by Father Joseph Baum and Father Joseph Crew, chanted a solemn high requiem mass.

Eddie Foy

Those theatrical folk of Broadway, who loved the clown through the years when he made people happy by making them laugh, flocked to the church and sat side by side with Eddie Foy's old neighbors. They prayed with them, wept with them and joined with them in the theater's greatest tribute:

"He was a good trouper."

As the body was borne into the church, the bell in the steeple tolled once—and a great sob welled up from the mourners. The mournful strains of the "Miserere" wailed forth.

Mrs. Marie Combs Foy, widow of the comedian, had recovered from her collapse. She was near the breaking point again at the close of the mass.

The Friars and the members of Catholic Actors Guild and the Vaudeville Association attended the funeral in a body. The pallbearers were Tom Barry, Joe McCarthy, Hap. Ward, R. H. Burnside, Augustus Thomas, Gene Buck, Brandon Tynan, Hanford Wilson, Ralph Whitehead and Mark Leuscher, all members of Eddy Foy's favorite club, the Lambs.

Flowers—three automobiles full of them—inundated the Foy home. The Lambs sent a huge blanket of flowers that covered the casket. Others came from the Masquers of California, Mr and Mrs. Hal Skelly, the New Rochelle Holy Name Society, James Coffroth, the Keith Albee offices, Monroe Shelly, Irving Berlin, the Friars, the Catholic Actors Guild, Tom Barry and Joe Laurie, Jr.

At Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Father Manzelli conducted a simple committal service, while Mrs. Foy was supported by two of the younger Foys.

A prayer, more tears—and Broadway had said its farewell to Eddie Foy.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. ANNA LLOYD

Funeral rites for Mrs. Anna Lloyd, who died at State Hospital, Columbus, Saturday, were conducted at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at C. E. Curtis & Co. Chapel followed by interment in Marion Cemetery.

After the coronation the cars will be used by the imperial household and government officials.

NO MANEUVERS; SAVE

London, Feb. 22—In accordance with the government's economy policy, the British army will hold no maneuvers this year. The saving is estimated at more than $10,000,000. In place of maneuvers division training will be held in the summer and autumn.

1,129,718 IN PEKING

Peking, China, Feb. 22—Metropolitan Peking now has a population of 1,129,718, according to the latest police census, made public today. This is a decrease of 21,400 since the August census. The authorities attribute the decrease to increasingly bad times which have driven many of the poor class to seek a living elsewhere.

Storm of Protest Gathers as Congress Gets Sub Report

WOULD REMOVE REAR ADMIRAL

Cites Brumby's Inefficiency in Rescue Operations and Recommends Detachment

Washington, Feb. 22—A storm of protest and indignation gathered on Capitol Hill today as members of Congress received the inconclusive report of the naval board of inquiry on the sinking of the submarine S-4 in Provincetown Harbor two months ago.

Forty lives were lost when the damaged submersible went to the bottom with her full crew following a collision with the coast guard destroyer Paulding on Dec. 17.

Although the formal report places technical responsibility equally upon the submarine commander and Lieut. Commdr. John C. Bayliss, commander of the Paulding, supplementary comments by ranking naval authorities place virtually entire blame upon Lieut. Commdr. R. K. Jones, who went down with his craft.

Express Indignation

Congressional circles express indignation at the tendency of the report to pass responsibility from the navy as a whole to the dead commander of the ill-fated craft.

Dissatisfaction on the part of naval authorities with charges of incompetance and inefficiency on the part of Rear Admiral Frank N. Brumby, director of rescue operations, has resulted in the return of the board's report to Secretary Wilbur with instructions to reconvene "for the purpose of setting forth with completeness the reasons upon which its opinions and recommendations were based."

"Congressional inquiry into the whole question of submarine construction and operation received tremendous impetus from the board's citation of Admiral Brumby, whose record of a quarter century of active service was without blemish. As commander of the control force, in charge of all submarine operations in the Atlantic he is now in Panama with the scouting fleet. He may be called back before the board.

Vigorously Opposed

"Rear Admiral Brumby's testimony before the court," the report said, "showed that he had no familiarity with the essential details of submarine construction, the knowledge of rescue vessels and of the actual work being carried on by his subordinates necessary to direct intelligently the important questions of which he was in charge."

Although the plans worked out by experts on the scene were both intelligent and diligently executed with the greatest possible expedition, "yet Rear Admiral Brumby failed to contribute that superior and intelligent guidance force and sound judgment expected from an officer of his length of service, experience and position."

"The court, therefore, recommends that he be detached from the command of the control force."

This recommendation, however, is vigorously opposed by Admirals J. H. Campbell, Judge Advocate General; R. H. Leigh, Chief of Navigation, and C. F. Hughes, Chief of Operations.

SENTENCED FOR SELLING LIQUOR TO STUDENTS

Youngstown, Feb. 21—A. R. Schon, 27, of Sharline, O., today stood sentenced to six months in jail for selling liquor to high school students.

Schon, who was convicted in Juvenile Court, was specially charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He admitted selling beer to high school girls brought to his place, because he "wanted to buy a home." He was also fined $100.

RULES ON TRUCKS OVER STATE ROADS

Columbus, Feb. 22—Sheriffs of the various counties in Ohio today were being informed on a new ruling, made by Director Schlesinger of the State Highway Department.

This ruling provides the tonnage allowed to be hauled by trucks over state highways. A truck with pneumatic tires is allowed to carry 10 tons, a truck with solid tires eight tons. Penalties are provided for violation of this ruling.

Director Schlesinger made the announcement after being advised by Attorney General Edward C. Turner that it was in the power of his department to distinguish between the weights hauled by trucks equipped with pneumatic or solid tires.

STILL BEST CHIEF AT 80

Fire Chief Wallace of the Cleveland Fire Department is still as young as the rest of the fighters. In twenty-four hours he has answered three three-alarm fires at 80 years of age. Wallace has served as director of the Cleveland forces for over half a century and is as active as the youngest on the force.

BRITAIN WILL NURSE GIFT OF $500,000

London—In a hundred years from now the British government will receive $65,000,000 as a gift to relieve the British taxpayer in his payment of the National Debt, which includes the war debts.

In fact the Treasury has already received $500,000 of this amount. It was presented to the government by an Englishman who prefers to remain anonymous. He gave the sum with the stipulation that it be invested at compound interest for a century, at which time it must be used to help pay the National Debt.

This sum invested at 5 per cent compound interest, will amount in 100 years to $65,000,000. The identity of the giver is stated to be known only to four people, including the Prime Minister and Mr. Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

NATURALIZATION LAW EXTENDED FOR VETS?

Washington, D. C.—Special naturalization privileges accorded aliens who served with the armed forces of the United States during the World War will be again extended for a period of three years if favorable action is taken by Congress on a bill recently introduced in the house of representatives. Watson B. Miller, chairman of the American Legion National Rehabilitation Committee, has announced.

Under this measure World War veterans of foreign birth would be relieved of complying with the usual residence requirements and could obtain citizenship papers immediately upon proper identification, provided their service during the war was honorable. Chairman Miller explained. This would be the third extension of the measure, the present extension expires May 26th of this year.

EXPLODE GENERAL IDEA ON AGE FOR NEW TRICKS

Cleveland—The old belief that adults are unable to learn as quickly as children was "tabooed" here by Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, director of Cleveland College who discussed adult education with visitors recently.

"Experiments show that adults up to the age of 45 learn the ordinary school subjects more rapidly than children," Dr. Ellis declared.

"The younger the child the longer it took him to learn reading, writing, shorthand, typewriting or whatever the subject.

"It is true that after the age of 25 the rate of learning falls off slightly for adults, but at 45 the rate is only one-sixth slower than it was at 25.

"But on the other hand, the breadth and depth of understanding which the older person brings to his studies, makes his comprehension of the subject vastly superior in many cases."

30-TON STEEL CHAIN TO STRENGTHEN BIG DOME

London—A thirty ton stainless steel chain with 15 foot links, is now being made in Sheffield to hold up the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The chain is 115 feet long and 13½ inches wide. It will be embedded in concrete in St. Paul's dome to prevent the dome sagging.

TAD JONES BUYS BIG NEW HAVEN COAL PLANT

New Haven, Conn.—Business and New England have captured Tad Jones. The famous Yale football coach, who came here to attend Yale and later went into business in west, came back to New Haven later to coach Yale football teams under contract. When the contract expired Jones bought a coal business, a waterside plant, and a house in New Haven, and now he intends to earn a living by selling coal in New England.

In his spare time he will head Yale's graduate advisory football board. Jones has written congress asking an appropriation to dredge New Haven harbor so larger coal boats can reach his plant.

EMPEROR'S FUR COAT OFFERED AT AUCTION

Vienna—"The Fur Traveling Coat of Emperor Francis Joseph, made of Siberian wolves' hide, is to be sold at a very low price."

This advertisement in the show window of a Viennese cigar store is a startling reminder of the changes wrought in the former Austro-Hungarian capital since the war.

The coat of the Kaiser, which, like all his clothing, retained a flavor of the respect which was paid to the person of His Majesty himself, was once only to be touched by persons of the highest rank. Later the Emperor bestowed it as a reward for merit on his Adjutant Count Paar.

It is now offered to anybody who can pay 1,200 Schillings, about $170.

Sinclair Faces Nine Months in Jail For Court Contempt

THREE OTHERS ARE SENTENCED

Bonds Posted as Quartet Plans Appeal from Judge's Decision

Washington, Feb. 22—Harry F. Sinclair, the multi-millionaire lessee of Teapot Dome, faced the prospect today of spending nine months in jail because of his "contempt" for the judicial processes of Washington.

Already under sentence on three counts for contempt of the Senate in refusing to answer questions in the oil investigation, Sinclair had a few months tacked on today for hiring Burns detectives to shadow the jurors during the progress of his trial for conspiracy in the lease of Teapot Dome from Ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

HARRY F. SINCLAIR

And that is not all. On April 2, Sinclair will go on trial again before a jury here, charged with conspiracy. He was to have been tried again Jan. 16, but the illness of his co-defendant, Fall, moved the court to grant a postponement. However, the court announced that if Fall still is unable to appear in April the trial of the oil magnate will proceed anyhow.

Three Others Convicted

Convicted with Sinclair in the latest contempt citation were H. Mason Day, an official of one of his companies, who was sentenced to four months; William J. Burns, widely-known detective given 15 days, and W. Sherman Burns, the latter's son, who was fined $1,000.

Bonds were posted today, permitting the men freedom pending the outcome of the appeal they will take from Justice Frederic L. Siddon's decision. Sinclair's appeal from the three months' Senate sentence also is pending, being before the Court of Appeals.

Sinclair received the latest sentence with the same grim nonchalance that he has displayed at every other reverse in the unprecedented litigation growing out of his lease of the naval oil reserve. He had nothing to say.

The elder Burns, however, was badly shaken up at the prospect of spending 15 days in jail.

Pleads for Father

"Before God," he said, nervously, "I am as innocent as a child unborn."

The younger Burns made an ineffectual plea to the court for his father.

"If there is any mercy to be meted out in this court," he said to Justice Siddons, "I ask it be shown my father."

Day was as nonchalant as his chief, Sinclair. He declared he had "tried to protect Mr. Sinclair's interests."

"You showed loyalty to your friend," admonished the court, "but there is a higher loyalty—loyalty to the laws of your country."

LENGEL LAYS PLANS FOR REINSTATEMENT

Ex-Canton Police Chief Declares He Was Illegally Removed from Post

Canton, Feb. 22—Back home after being acquitted of a charge of first degree murder, in connection with the Don Mellett conspiracy, Secanus A. Lengel, former local police chief, today was laying plans to resume his fight for reinstatement to the office from which he was deposed shortly after the Mellett assassination in 1926.

Lengel's suit to regain his post has been pending in Common Pleas Court here. He claims he was illegally removed.

The Civil Service Commission would be compelled to reinstate Lengel should the suit prove successful, and the ex-chief would be entitled to approximately $5,000 back pay. In addition he would be eligible for retirement on pension of $85 per month, as he had but a short time to serve until he could have retired, when deposed from office.

Lengel was set free at Lisbon yesterday when Judge William F. Jones of Columbiana County, directed a verdict of acquittal in the former chief's second trial for alleged complicity in the Mellett plot.

Stark County Prosecutor Henry Harter has announced plans to take a petition in error to the State Supreme Court to determine the law on Floyd Streitenberger's refusal to testify in the Lisbon trial. Streitenberger, serving life for complicity in the Mellett murder, was the state's star witness in Lengel's first trial here when the latter was convicted.

The result of Harter's proposed action would not affect Lengel.

POLICE SEEK FIEND WHO SLEW SPINSTER

Believe Murderer Drugged Woman and Robbed Her Before Firing Clothes

New York, Feb. 22 — A fiend who drugged Miss Margaret Brown, 40-year-old governess, robbed her of her life savings, saturated her clothing with kerosene, then set her afire and left her to die by the roadside near Bernardsville, N. J., was sought by police today. The slayer was a suitor of the spinster, it is believed.

Search for the murderer shifted to New York following the discovery last night that Miss Brown was employed by Mrs. James Gillespie of this city.

Had Saved $9,000

After working as a governess for 20 years, during which she saved $9,000, Miss Brown left the employ of Mrs. Gillespie last Monday morning with the announced intention of going to California. Mrs. Gillespie expressed the belief that the governess planned to pay a farewell visit to a man who had been keeping company with her. She gave police a description of this suitor, who is now being sought as the probable slayer. Police believe he took her from New York to the scene of the crime in an automobile.

The woman died early yesterday in Morristown, N. J. Prosecutor Francis L. Bergen, a veteran of the Hall-Mills case, has charge of the investigation in New Jersey. He said he had information that the governess, after leaving her place with Mrs. Gillespie Monday, had taken her life savings—$8,000 in bonds and $1,000 in cash—from the bank. The money and the bonds had disappeared and, he asserted, are probably in the hands of the man or men who murdered her.

Not Beaten, Belief

That Miss Brown was not beaten by her murderer before she was taken from an automobile, her clothing doused with kerosene and fired, and left burning in the woods, was ascertained by a post-mortem examination conducted by George Mack, Somerset County physician.

"There was no evidence of any external violence," said Prosecutor Bergen after he had received the report of the surgeons, "but we believe she was drugged."

A lot of semi-public functions you go to, simply to be seen there. But what a lot of trouble.

They Can't Stand Prosperity.

When the United States enacted its present immigration law, it administered a heavy blow to the passenger shipping business, for it thereby practically eliminated one of the most profitable sources of revenue of the business. The mighty stream of aliens coming to our shores being cut off, the shipping people found no demand for the space in their liners which had formerly been given to third-class, and in the larger liners to fourth and fifth-class, accommodations. Sending vessels across the oceans with two-thirds of their berths unoccupied both ways was a ruinous business, and, to meet the situation, first one line and then another cleaned up and refitted their steerage quarters and introduced tourists' rates, offering fare and accommodations far better than that previously given steerage passengers at but little advance in the rates.

The third-class tourist plan proved popular. Such was the rate—it was $155 for the round trip back in 1925—that people who never had hoped to visit Europe became interested. The business began to flourish, and it is said that, taken as a whole, the tourist class rated higher intellectually and in many other desirable ways than any other class traveling the Atlantic. College professors and students, school teachers, lawyers, doctors, bankers, newspaper men, people of education and refinement, who had not laid away enough for a rainy day to justify them in taking expensive first-class passages, felt free to enjoy a European trip at a cost so limited.

The shipping people found that they had developed a big new line of business, and then they began to figure how they might make it more profitable. The result was that they began to boost the rates, until now the tourist rate on some ships from June 15 to September 23 is now $127.50 one way, but $10 below the minimum second-class rate in the same season. The round-trip rate advanced from $155 in 1925 to $170 in 1926 and 1927 and this year it has reached a maximum of $210. Having been increased before the opening of the year, it has again been boosted from seven dollars to $11.50 more to all those landing or embarking at British ports.

It looks a bit as though the steamship people are endeavoring to emulate the example of the fellow who decapitated the goose that laid the golden eggs.

A Mystery of the Ages Solved.

From Italy comes the announcement that Professor Alfredo Trombetti, of the University of Bologna, has finally succeeded in deciphering the ancient Etruscan language, which until the present has baffled the scholars of the world. Professor Trombetti, who is known throughout the educational world for his work in philology, has long been conversant with many languages, translating something like thirty with ease and being able to carry on a conversation in most of them, has been engaged in the study of ancient Etruscan for years, but lacked the ability to decipher it until the latter part of last year, and withheld announcement of his final success till last week.

Etruria was a division of what is now Italy which extended along the Mediterranean and was separated from Umbria, the Sabine territory, and Latium by the Tiber river, and from Liguria by the Apennine mountains. It nearly corresponded to modern Tuscany, and contained a confederation of twelve cities—held by scholars to have been probably Veii, Clusium, Tarquinii, Faleii, Caere, Volsinii, Cortona, Perusia, Arretium, Vulci, Volaterrae and Vetulonia. The Etruscans developed as a great naval power, influential in northern and central Italy, and had possessions on the Po and in Campania. Etruscan kings ruled at an early time in Rome, probably till about 500 B. C. The Etruscans were defeated by Syracuse in a naval battle in 474 B. C., and suffered from an invasion by the Gauls about 400 B. C. Veii was lost to Rome in 396 and the defeat by the Romans at the Valdimonian lake in 283 B. C. was followed by the fall of Tarquinii and the other Etrurian cities. And when the Romans finally overcame the Etruscans they, like Pizarro in Peru and Cortez in Mexico, destroyed a finer civilization than their own, as made evident by the monuments left by them and still extant.

Speaking of the Etrurians or Etruscans, the Century dictionary says:

"The Etrurians are the most mysterious people of antiquity. We meet them in the sculptured chronicles of ancient Egypt as the Turshа, and in the pages of the earliest Greek writers as the Tyrrhenes or Turreni. According to ancient tradition, they came from Lydia in prehistoric times and colonized Latium. Certain details of their costumes and customs appear to be identical with those of Lydia, and the legend is probably based upon fact. But until the inscriptions of Etruria can be read, we are not likely to solve this problem. The Etruscan characters resemble the archaic alphabets of Asia Minor, but no scholar has yet succeeded in identifying more than proper names and the names of cities. Lately the discovery of an inscription on the island of Lemnos seems to render probable the identity of the Etruscans with the Pelasgian Tyrrhenians of the Mediterranean."

And so, at last, the history of this most mysterious of all people of antiquity, which has eluded the scholars of the world for thousands of years, is soon to be known to the world as a result of the ability and untiring energy of this Italian savant. What a superb accomplishment, this of Professor Trombetti, to give to the world, as he is preparing to do, the story of one of the highest civilizations of ancient times!

Why not cut out the mailing privilege and make members of congress pay for the propaganda, political and other, which they inflict upon the public?

THE GATE OF CLOUDS.

The gate of clouds swings slowly to and fro:
The magic keys the sentinel seasons hold;
Behold; beyond Olympus' crown of snow
The land of dreams in majesty unrolled.

Brighter than gems, softer than virgin gold,
The nacreous splendor's palpitating glow;
To hands so fair pace pilgrims, young and old;
The gate of clouds swings slowly to and fro.

See! Through the gate comes Diau with her bow,
Hiding 'mong mountain pines from lovers bold:
There broods my muse mid flowers' perpetual blow,
The magic keys the sentinel seasons hold.

There Beauty breathes superb in faultless mold,
And Muses harp their charmed music's flow:
And Graces teach, all statuesquely stoled,
Behold! beyond Olympus' crown of snow.

Lands of the Orient, in clouds arow—
Visions of earth in heavenly mirage scrolled—
From scenes so fair, oh, Fate, why hold me so
The land of dreams in majesty unrolled?

Fain would I see its beauties manifold:
Ere Eden's matchless glories I shall know,
And bathe my soul in essence—bliss untold—
Prepare me here, sweet Muse, and open throw
The gate of clouds!

Monotony in Labor.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Somewhere in a book I read about a character whose pet saying was, "Rest in action." He didn't believe in loafing or sitting around. This man insisted that you can rest best by being active. The other day I read about a man who was so lazy he stayed in bed thirty years. He never would leave it till they took him to the poorhouse where he could get no food except at the table.

Mark Twain would stay in bed for days at a time. He smoked, read and wrote in bed. He received callers in his bedroom.

I am convinced that oversleeping is almost or quite as bad as undersleeping. It is far better to get up an hour or so earlier than usual in the morning, if that is the only time you can get out-of-doors for a brisk walk.

There is a wise old saying, "A change of work is rest." Whatever is different from the thing you do habitually is restful.

I believe it is true that there is rest in action. If you have been sitting at your desk for several hours, get up and walk about the office. It will rest you.

I am much interested in watching my colleagues in the senate. A few of them sit at their desks all through the session. Most of them walk about a lot. A few are never in their seats—they are on the move about the senate chamber all the time.

It is a mistake to do one thing over and over and never to change off in work or play. This is trying to the nerves.

I have told you of the man who said he was "Nut Forty-Eight." It was his job to screw on that particular nut in assembling automobiles. Day in and day out, nut forty-eight was the only thing to claim his attention. He said he would surely turn into nut forty-eight if he couldn't find a way to vary the monotony.

It isn't necessary to sit down and fold the hands, or to lie down to rest. Change the way of doing your work. Keep active, but use another set of muscles. Rest by taking on new action.

There is nothing so deadly as monotony. To do the same thing, over and over, is a trying undertaking. I went through the bureau of engraving the other day. I saw young women counting money, bills amounting to millions pass through their hands. But it would be easier to do that act if we were counting our own money.

But, no matter what your job is, try to vary it enough to keep your nerves from getting on edge. Vary your physical exertions as much as possible. Be active, but try to rest in action.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

J. A. M. Q—Why does the heart pound and shake the whole system, accompanied by nervousness after meals?

A—Palpitation due to either nervousness, indigestion or to a possible heart affection. It would be wise to have the heart examined to make sure it is normal and then definite treatment can be advised.

T. Y. Q—How can I have my large protruding ears corrected?

2—Would an electric vibrator be beneficial in reducing a goitre?

A—You might consult a plastic surgeon. Any of the large hospitals will gladly recommend one.

2—I do not believe so. In treating goitre first consideration must be given to building up the general health. For other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Editorial Opinion.

SUBJECT FOR STUDY.

A single day's news brings reports of the organization of a woolen institute to control production in that industry and of the creation of two and possibly three great coal-producing corporations to serve the same purpose there. Accompanying these announcements are statements that the woolen and worsted industries have suffered enormous losses in the past four years and that the bituminous coal industry has passed through the worst seven years in its entire history. Coming so soon after unfavorable financial reports from other important industries—steel, oil and motors—these efforts to control production combined with rising figures of unemployment indicate that the general condition of business is not entirely a happy one.

Unlike most recessions in activity and in profits the reason for the reaction which began in the second half of 1927 is clear to no one. There is a great deal of speculation as to causes. It was easy to tie up the depression of 1907 with banking phenomena of the year before and the depression of 1920 and 1921 with maladjustments created by war production; but there is no single influence in the business events of the past year or two that explains the business and industrial movement through which we are now passing.

The secretary of commerce has just announced plans for a careful investigation under the direction of Professors W. C. Mitchell, of Columbia, and E. F. Gay, of Harvard, of the factors responsible for our national well-being. A more profitable subject for their consideration might be the causes at the foundation of the recent and prevailing trend in business and industry. We know in a general way that our national well-being is a product of rich natural resources and a fairly intelligent use of them. The answer to the other question is almost a blank.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE GREATEST CRIME.

One can agree with Magistrate John V. Flood, of New York, that: "Perjury is a crime not only against God, but against the state. It is a serious crime because the theory on which our courts is based is that men are presumed to speak the truth."

But it is not so easy to find one's self in agreement with Rt. Rev. Michael J. Ripple, national director of the Holy Name society, who spoke from the same rostrum with Magistrate Flood.

Said Director Ripple: "Perjury is more serious than murder, adultery or burglary. Where the others offend the majesty of man, perjury offends the majesty of God."

We confess to an inability to comprehend this reasoning. It might be admitted that perjury was a graver crime than adultery or burglary, but in what conception can it be regarded as more to be condemned than the intentional taking of life—of life, the most precious thing in all the universes of divinity?

Has the commandment, "Thou shalt not lie," a greater inhibitive validity than that one which says "Thou shalt not kill?" And why should this be so?

The wreck of two souls may be involved in murder, if we are to believe the teachings of our scriptures.

The man who swears to a lie strikes at the heart of the state, of society and religion. But the murderer strikes at all of these, and also at the root of life. Through the ages murder has been estimated to be the major crime in crime's calendar. It is not likely that it ever will be generally considered as anything less than that.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"TOO EFFICIENT."

When Admiral Plunkett made so bold as to say America is nearer to war than ever before because, as he put it, "we are too damned efficient," it could not have been the navy bureaucrats' efficiency that he had in mind. For it has come out that after directing the rescue and salvage work on the submarine, S-51, which went down in 1925 with a loss of thirty-three lives, Commander Ellsberg reported as follows to his superiors:

"The exact date of the sinking of the next submarine can not, of course, be foretold, but based on past performances it can be expected within the next three years. It is desirable that when it occurs, there be available such means for quick salvage that no possible criticism can be made of the navy on the ground of unpreparedness."

To this Commander Ellsberg added recommendations of specific measures which might be undertaken, as preparedness.

The report went into a pigeonhole. Two years and three months went by, and the disaster of the S-4 occurred. To all intents and purposes the navy was caught unprepared for quick salvage. So far as is known, thirty-four drowned at once as the water rushed into their compartments. But six survived for several days, during which they tapped out their age-old question, "Is there any hope?"

Perhaps, if Ellsberg's counsel had been heeded, there might have been hope. Evidently it was not the navy bureaucrats of the swivel chairs and pigeonholes to whom Plunkett referred when he said, "We are too damned efficient."—Minneapolis Journal.

The Spots on the Sun.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

This is likely to be the maximum year of the present series of sunspots. That is the opinion of Professor George H. Peters of the United States naval observatory, who makes a daily photographic record of the appearance of the sun. Immensely large spots made their appearance of late, and their average number has been increasing for several years past. About the end of this year it is probable that a turn will take place and for half a dozen years to come the decrease in frequency and individual size will go on until for a time the face of the sun will be unspotted. Then the next minimum will occur.

The average period from maximum through minimum back to maximum is about eleven years, but the irregularities are large. The next minimum may occur about 1933 or 1934.

The sunspots have a great interest in themselves alone, without regard to their effect upon the earth, since they show so plainly the action of forces of terrific power periodically rending vast portions of the glaring solar surface. The most striking anology that has been found for picturing their characteristic appearances is that of gigantic tornadoes whirling furiously in the layers of flaming gas that for mthe sun's visible shell.

But their cause, according to the best opinion at present, is something situated below the visible surface of the sun, or the photosphere. So far only as the periodicity of their occurrence is concerned, they have been likened to the eruptions of a geyser—but there is nothing resembling a geyser in their action, nor indeed in their appearance. The intention in suggesting an analogy to geyser action, is only to emphasize the idea that the causative force lies deep in the sun, and may be of such a nature that the individual spots can only be regarded as scattered manifestations of an internal disturbance affecting the whole body of the sun.

Sunspots are the centers of intense electromagnetic action, and it is here that their importance with regard to life on our earth arises. It is believed that they shoot electrons, set free in the solar laboratory, which constitutes the sun, out into surrounding space, and these electrons, streaming like cathodic rays through the interplanetary void, arrive at the earth—if they chance to have been shot directly toward it—and produce in our skies the wonderful fluttering banners and streamers of the aurora borealis—Northern lights—as well as the violent electro-magnetic disturbances known as "magnetic storms."

It is difficult to understand how anybody can doubt that sunspots have an important relation to the earth's climatic and weather conditions. I have myself for more than forty years noted the evidences of such connection afforded by the remarkable coincidence of peculiar types of weather and the prevalence of particular kinds of violent storms, such as tornadoes, with the existence of maximum sunspot periods. The great difficulty in establishing a technically valid proof of such relation arises from the untractable nature of atmospheric phenomena, which are so subject to local influences that the general laws underlying them are largely obscured. The case resembles that of the tides. If we depended only on the general laws of tidal action to predict the movements of the sea waters in the different ports of the world we should find ourselves hopelessly at fault. A thousand causes of variation of conditions have to be considered and introduced into the calculations. In like manner, in order to abstract the influence upon earthly weather of disturbances occurring in the sun, a complicated field of cross-actions must be explored. But let no one doubt the human interest of sunspots.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 22—The art of the motion picture along Broadway is facing the prospect of being submerged by its surrounding grandeur. It begins at the portals where glittering gentlemen caparisoned in gold-reps uniforms and wearing white gloves receive your tickets.

One of them enters the labyrinthine caverns of onyx and marble, treading on the rarest of Oriental rugs. There are grand circular stairways dotted with immobile flunkies in court uniforms, Byzantine nooks doming their splendor, round-shouldered vases, and statues cast in pure bronze.

There are ponderous chandeliers dripping chrystal, the rise and fall of throbbing fountains, decorative walls in pictorial tapestries, balustrades with a Babylonian flair, and marine trained ushers to guide you to deep-cushioned chairs of plush.

Then there is the sensuous lull of light emerging softly from an apricot haze to an incarnadine glow. Stop me, if I'm writing too fancy. Hidden organ consoles arise magically from the subterranean depths and the great cathedral-like halls are flooded with quivering and plaintive notes.

Following this come the stupendous symphony orchestras ranging from seventy-five to 150 members, arising, too, out of the elevator orchestra pits in extreme solemnity, to be broken by the swift rush to the dias of the conductor in full evening dress.

The best music of the old masters is offered and gorgeous curtains part often to reveal a cross-eyed Keystone cop spraying a bewhiskered gent with a garden hose or the launching of the battleship, Colorado, with a close-up of the governor's daughter. It seems like going through the palaces of Versailles to see a Punch and Judy show.

This have thousands confused the progress of the movie with the progress of the cinema temples. It does offer a bewildering hocus-pocus, but the fact is it is filling less ornate places devoted exclusively to movie presentation. There are some movie patrons left who actually want to see movies.

The wife of a prominent New York hotelkeeper was walking along a shopping district when newsies appeared from everywhere crying war had been declared with Germany. She immediately went into a department store and ordered $60,000 worth of linen for her husband's inn. It was one of those impulses people call a "hunch." When she told her husband, he was astounded. He did not have that much ready money. He would cancel the order and was she crazy? She calmed him. In six months he was offered double the price for the linen. In a year the offer was tripled. The net result was he had enough linens to last him during the duration of the war at prewar prices, an enormous saving, and he was able to realize a sale profit from some of it of $50,000. And I see no reason for hiding the fact that the lady was Mrs. Frank Case, of the Algonquin.

One of the many excellent reasons Mayor Walker is considered so typically New Yorkish is he talks out of the side of his mouth. His diction is flawless and his English excellent, but somehow in his youth he picked up the custom so popular on the East Side—and never abandoned it.

He sent her a caustic and haughty telegram, as though that would get him anywhere. The laconic reply read: "I'm sorry I neglected to tell you. Things like that will slip one's mind in Hollywood."

Sir Edward Elgar—Composer.

BY COZETTE DOUGLASS.

Self-taught in the matter of harmony and counterpoint, yet attaining the foremost ranks of the English composers, Sir Edward Elgar richly deserves the honors that have been heaped on him.

Sir Edward was born at Broadwath, near Worcester, on June 2, 1857, his father at the time being the organist at St. George's R. C. church, a position which he held for thirty-seven years. From him Sir Edward received his first instruction in music. Through his father's connections with various musical organizations, Sir Edward learned to play various instruments and in 1877 he went to London to study the violin under Pollitzer. In 1879 he became bandmaster of a lunatic asylum, a post he he'd until 1884.

After his marriage to Caroline Alice, daughter of Major General Sir Henry Roberts, in the year 1889, Sir Edward moved to London, but finding no encouragement there, he retired to Malvern, where he devoted his time to teaching and composition.

In spite of the number of compositions which he published, Sir Edward was not generally recognized by the public until 1900, when his "Dream of Gerontius" was produced at the Birmingham Festival. However, it was not until its sensational reception at the Nether-Rhenish Festival in 1902 and the high tribute paid to it by Richard Strauss that his own countrymen recognized his undoubted genius. This composition has been declared to be "the greatest composition of the century, with the single exception of Brahms' "Requiem."

Perhaps his two greatest compositions, aside from "The Dream of Gerontius," are "Variations," which were character studies of his friends, and "The Apostles," which has been conceived in a spirit of reverence and devotion as a fit successor to the miracle plays of the medieval church." — Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

HANDCUFF STORE IS QUEEREST LONDON SHOP

London—One of the queerest shops in London, and perhaps in the world, is located on the Strand, where an enterprising business man has established a considerable trade in the sale of handcuffs.

The proprietor of the store claims to have customers from all over the world. The majority of his orders come from private insane asylums, theatrical companies, and passenger steamship lines.

"All passenger liners," the proprietor said, "carry handcuffs and coffins for emergency purposes."

DETROIT PLANNING TWO "WHITE WAY" AVENUES

Detroit—Conversion of Lower Woodward Avenue and Griswold street into "white ways" with 16 times as much light than at present, is being considered by the common council after a petition of property owners of the two streets.

The plan consists of ornamental light poles about 30 feet high with cluster globes at the top. Expense of installation would be paid by property owners.

USE ELECTRIC BATTERY TO DETECT DIPHTHERIA

Chicago—Reaction of bacteria to an electric charge has been used by Professor I. S. Falk of the Department of Bacteriology at the University of Chicago in inventing a new method of detecting cases of diphtheria and is now being used and tested by public health bureaus in St. Louis, Los Angeles and other cities, it was announced here.

A culture from the diphtheria suspect is suspended in a neutral solution and a light electrical charge is passed through.

The time required by the bacteria as ... view through a microscope, to move a prescribed distance toward the positive or negative poles enables the bacteriologist to determine its virulence. The most dangerous organism move the slowest, according to Dr. Falk.

The pantry of a large steamer crossing the Atlantic often possesses 5,000 chickens and 35,000 eggs for the meals of its passengers during one voyage.

Druggist Gave Her Very Good Advice

Miss Ruth Horowtiz, Bronx, N. Y., writes: "Having been troubled with indigestion caused by constipation for several months, my druggist advised a purely vegetable laxative pill.

I can safely say that since I am taking them, and only one each night, I feel like myself again and can eat most anything without fear of an attack."

CHAPTER 30

"I am well, Tuan! But what of the Tuan himself?"

Bob Kingsley smiled queerly.

"I'm a bit of an incubus, I'm afraid," he said.

"Tuan?"

"They've got me in irons—hand and foot. I can't walk."

"But we know, O Master; but if it is the Tuan's will that Kafan, who desires it greatly, shall come with us on the Alita, then we are seven. It is the Tuan's will that it should be so?"

"Yes, of course, if he wants to," assented Bob Kingsley readily. "He's entitled a lot more than that. But what has that got to do with it?"

"It does not take seven to carry two," continued Nanu; "but there will be one more if we must fight. In a few minutes now it will be dark and the moon will not yet be risen. There is only one man who keeps guard at the door. I will return with Kafan and one other. And Kafan will talk to the guard, and draw the man a little away from the door to listen to the tale of last night and the ship that was sunk—for the ears of all in the campong are wide to listen to that tale like children to a tale that cannot be too often told. And in that manner I, Nanu, and the other who comes with me will loosen the boards here without the sound reaching the guard's ears, and we will carry the Tuan away, for the boards are old and the noise will not be great. It is well, Tuan?"

"It's a good plan—worth trying anyhow," agreed Bob Kingsley approvingly after an instant's consideration. "But"—his voice suddenly sharpened and held an imperative note—"you must first get Miss Lyle away, and be well on the road with her to the Alita before any one comes to me, for if anything went wrong here and the alarm was raised it would end all chance of escaping with her. You understand, Nanu?"

"Yes, Tuan."

"Then one more thing," said Bob Kingsley tensely. "You and I are the only ones who can sail the Alita to Singapore; therefore, though you may send Kafan and two of the others back to help me when you have started on your way with Miss Lyle, you are not to come back here yourself. If all goes well I will join you either on your way to the schooner or on the schooner itself; but if things go badly with me, you will neither wait, nor turn back, nor attempt to help me in any way, but get Miss Lyle on board the Alita with all haste and sail with her at once for Singapore, where she may find her own people. These are my orders, Nanu"—he was whispering sternly now—"and if you fail I will not forgive."

"Tuan"—there was a tremor for the first time in Nanu's voice—"it may well be if such things come to pass that I shall be sore of heart before the night is done, but I will not fail."

"Go, then!" said Bob Kingsley, a sudden gruffness in his voice. "And go quickly!"

He heard a faint rustling sound beyond the boardings. Nanu was gone.

There was no longer any light coming in through the interstices and the cracks between the boardings of the shed. It must be dark outside now—quite dark.

Motionless and silent, Bob Kingsley sat on the earth-flooring, and listened. He remembered that he had been taken past Richardson's bungalow on the way to the shed that morning; and that the shed, though on the extreme edge of the clearing, could not be more than a hundred yards away from the rear of the bungalow. If, therefore, there were any misadventure, any outcry from Verna, he could hardly fail to hear it.

He had called her a little she-devil, a wonderful little she-devil—and she would fight like one before she was overpowered if she got the chance. He smiled in a sort of grim resignation. She would hate him more than ever for this—if that were possible! Expressed tritely, the end justified the means; but, believing nothing, she would see in it only a high-handed outrage that, besides the fury it would invoke in her, might sicken her with fear and terror as she misjudged its purpose. But there was no other way—no other way. He was sure of that. The very fact that he might successfully do this thing himself, was proof that Chen-shu and his thugs could do likewise. He was merely beating them to it—and by perhaps but a desperately narrow margin!

How long was it now since Nanu had gone? Ten minutes—or half an hour? He could not tell. With fate hanging in the balance every second, it seemed as if he had been listening, intent to catch the faintest sound, for so long now that it might have been half the night. And there had been no sound.

So far, then, all was well. But, though he prayed that he might hear no sound, he knew a strange, incongruous impatience because of this continued silence. Had Nanu succeeded, and was he even now on his way with Verna to the Alita—or had Nanu been faced with obstacles that had either delayed or forbidden utterly the attempt to—well, put it in bald English!—kidnap Verna? He did not know, and he could not know, unless he heard the sudden outcries that he dreaded, or until Kafan, with the two members of the crew that Nanu would send, came here to the shack to carry out the plans for his escape.

Supposing something went wrong here—that his own attempt to escape would not only be frustrated but would raise an alarm as well, and that the Malay guard was not so gullible as Nanu imagined! He shook his head. No! He had already discounted all that. Nanu would still have three men with him, enough even if shorthanded, to sail the schooner, and Nanu would still be able, with the start he had, to reach the Alita and get Verna on board. Otherwise he——

There was a sound at last—the sound of voices outside the door of the shed. He could not catch the words, but it seemed as though an exchange of greetings were taking place. A minute later the voices grew fainter, as though the speakers had moved somewhat away. And now quite close to his elbow, for he had scarcely moved from his position near the rear wall of the shed, he heard a slight creaking noise, as though the board were being warily pried apart. And then a cautious whisper:

"Tuan!"

"I am here," he whispered back.

"All is well, Tuan," the voice returned instantly. "It is I, Tifu, whom Nanu sent because I, too, speak the Tuan's tongue. Also, Nissan is with me. Kafan talks with the fat pig at the door; and it is the word of Nanu that the whitte woman is even now on that the white woman is even now on work swiftly that the Tuan may be free."

"Good!" said Bob Kingsley fervently.

He lifted his manacled hands to his forehead. There was sweat there. He brushed it away. The suspense had got a bit deeper under his skin than he had realized evidently! To all intents and purposes Verna was safe now. Thank God for that! And for the rest there was surely now little need for further concern. The shed, being at the extreme end of the clearing behind the house, was well away from the road; and in the darkness there was little likelihood that they would be seen during the moment or two that, once he was out of the shed, it would take to gain the shelter of the thick bushes, which, he had noticed when he had been locked up that morning, fringed the edge of the clearing itself. Nor was his escape likely to be discovered at all until Verna's disappearance was noticed, when, naturally, in the search that would follow, the shed here would not be overlooked. No one had come near him all day except on the two occasions when food had been brought to him. He had not yet been given anything to eat that evening, but the manner in which the other two meals had been served—by thrusting them just inside the door and the door being hurriedly shut again as though the guard were in mortal terror that he would be set upon—was a very reassuring guarantee that the third meal—when he, Bob Kingsly, was no longer there!—would be served in like manner.

He could just faintly hear the breathing of the men outside as they worked a few inches away from him—and the occasional sound of rending wood, the protest of an embedded nail as it yelded to pressure, was scarcely more audible. Kafan had evidently enticed the guard still farther away, for he could not hear voices at all now from the direction of the shed door.

"KONJOLA WAS THE MEDICINE I HAD ALWAYS NEEDED"

Says Another Lady; Free of Stomach Trouble She Suffered For Twenty Years

MRS. IRMA ZILE

"Konjola has made a wonderful change in my condition after twenty years of suffering from stomach trouble and I strongly recommend it to others," said Mrs. Irma Zile, 148 South Irwin St., Dayton, Ohio.

"I was troubled with constipation and every meal I ate brought on intense misery. I had awful gas pains and bloating spells. My hands and feet were subject to numbness and I felt like I was paralyzed. I also had terrific headaches and dizzy spells so that I could hardly stand up.

"I started with Konjola and before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that the gas pains and bloating spells were gone. As I continued with this medicine the headaches and dizzy spells left me and my hands and feet finally became normal. Now I feel as though I have never been sick a day in my life."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a great number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was the birthday of the Father of our Country. There is no mother of our country, and no brothers, and sisters, it was an only child, and was brang up on a bottle but now the bottle is tooken away, and our country is going to the dogs. I asted my grandfather about it and that is what he told me. He is an old man, and, my ant says, a gifted lire. I wouldn't dast say that. Anyhow George was what my grandfather said he was, because my mother told me so. My grandfather said George started to go out to fight the British and when his men had all got on horseback he handed them each a chestnut burr. Then George Washington told them to put the chestnut burr under their horses' tails when they saw the whites of their enemies' eyes, so they done it. When the British saw all the horses begin to prance and do the black bottom they stopped in astonishment, and then all at once all of the horses clamped their tails down tight and the horses charged straight ahead like a bullet shot out of a gun. The British turned their horses around to skin out but George's horses were going so fast that they ran over them and the red field was one. My grandfather says there is a book about it called "The Opening of a Chestnut Burr," and my ant looked supprized and said "I believe there is a book by that name, for I have heard of it, but I believe every thing else you have told is a lie." My Grandfather said to go read the book and she would find out that George never told a lie. He couldn't. And as he was the only man that ever lived that couldn't he was the only man that ever lived that didn't.

I was glad George couldn't tell a lie. Because I didn't have to go to school, and Mohs's wife would be over looking googerly eyed from the snowball by that time, and if the Lost Bag of Tripe don't tell her, she will never know who done it. But he will tell her. That is what he thinks he has got his mouth for.

We all got on our horse and went for a ride in the country, and I found an old chestnut burr hanging to a tree and it was seasoned so it was as stiff as a bunch of needles. The bunch did not see me get it, and I told them we would change around going back, so the Lost Bag of Tripe got up front and Spider Gutwaltz next and Banty next and Red next. Then I made out like I was getting on and I put the chestnut burr under the horse's tail, and it certainly did make him prance. Which proves that George Washington did not tell a lie.

We had to walk home. I didn't care. And neither did Jubilee.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

LILLIAN IS IMPATIENT

I DID not ask Lillian for any explanation of her assertion that she expected to be indignant several times before the day of our beach picnic was over, nor did she vouchsafe any. We got into our bathing suits hurriedly, ran out and had a glorious swim in the water of the bay, but in accordance with our agreement to keep watch of Philip Veritzen's reactions to Mary's association with his son and with young Mr. Jackson we left the water before anyone else did and dressed again. Then with the ostensible purpose of paying deference to my mother-in-law, we took folding beach chairs and sat down near to her Lillian signaling surreptitiously to me that this was the best possible place for keeping the great dramatic producer within our vision.

It was not long, however, before we saw that either Lillian had been mistaken about the prohibitory signal she thought she had seen Mr. Veritzen give to Mary at Noel's accosting of her, or else that his prohibition did not also extend to young Mr. Jackson. For when Katherine and Mary went into the water, young Mr. Jackson promptly left Eleanor Lincoln to Noel's care and, coming up to Mary, carried her off to a swimming race with him.

From that moment the two were inseparable, as indeed were Noel and Eleanor Lincoln. And my employer, far from evincing any displeasure smiled frequently and benevolently as he looked toward the grouping of the two young couples.

"He's swallowed the canary, all right," Lillian whispered to me, when Katie's delicious luncheon having been discussed, and the possibilities of sport in impromptu canoe races exhausted, we prepared to drive to the ocean five miles away. "But why? I shall choke the answer out of him before the day or, rather, the night is over. I know I shall."

"I shall give you the opportunity as soon as it gets dark," I told her while we again followed the Veritzen limousine with Mother Graham still beaking in the great producer's flattering attentions.

I felt the keen glance she shot at me.

"When? Where? What? Why?" she asked.

"Regular reporter, aren't you?" I said, laughing. "It's very simple. When Mary refused to see Noel the other day, he begged me to arrange some way where he could talk to her uninterrupted by anyone. I told him that after the pirate steak tonight in the interval of darkness before the moon comes up, you and I would contrive to give him that opportunity. I did not get the chance to tell you about it, because don't you remember, right after he left, Katie came in screaming that Junior was gone?"

She nodded, and I hurried on.

"I haven't thought of it since, but you'll have plenty of opportunity to talk to Mr. Veritzen even to strangle him as you so bloodthirstily wish, for it will be your job to keep him so interested that he will not suspect that Mary and Noel are having an interview. I'll mount guar over them to keep the rest of the party away."

"If this pirate steak is like the others we've had, the most of the party will be lying on the sand around the fire too stuffed to move," Lillian commented grimly. "Only people in love like Noel and Mary will have eaten moderately enough to be able to move. I don't know how I shall get up energy enough to tackle Phil, but there's one comfort, he'll be torpid himself."

Meditations of a Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE sole reason why many husbands are living today is because most women are such poor shots.

* * *

The old-fashioned lover used to beg humbly and passionately for "just one kiss"; but if the modern lover made any such modest request the girl would think he was trying to hold out on her.

* * *

It must be annoying, in this day of "progressive marriage," to feel that a lot of other women are just waiting for you to get through with your husband, and "turn him in" again—like a library book.

* * *

A man seldom hears anything a woman says: because before marriage he listens to her only with his eyes, and after marriage with only half an ear-drum.

* * *

Both "mice and men" will go right on confidently believing that they can steal the cheese and escape the trap, just as long as one of them manages to get away with it, now and then. But, alas, in the end, they all get caught!

* * *

It isn't his lost love that a man sighs for, but his lost ability to feel the same enthusiasm about her! Alas, every little bit chipped off of your heart leaves just a little bit less!

* * *

The difference between "slavery" and "independence" is apparently just the difference between catering to one man morning and evening and catering to an office full of men all the rest of the day.

* * *

Somehow, a woman can tell just by the way a man toots his motor-horn in front of her house, whether it's a love-call, a challenge, or a peremptory command.

* * *

The first kiss used to be the climax of love—now it is merely the overture.

Sage Tea Dandy to Darken Hair

By DOROTHY LANG

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound"—at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

SWEET STOMACHS

Hearty Eaters—Hard Smokers—High Livers Here's a Boon and a Blessing for All!

Age has little or nothing to do with digestion! If the stomach has sufficient alkaline, all is serene—after the heartiest meal—even when folks eat with more zest than discretion.

Do you realize that after-eating distress, and the sour risings and bad breath that goes with it, can be banished in one minute?

For many years you have heard of Stuart's Tablets. You may have looked on them as "medicine." But they are only sweeteners of the system, quite as harmless as they taste, and very good for anybody's stomach. Take one now and then—before meals or after—when-ever you feel the need.

What a convenient and delightful means of avoiding indigestion! A Stuart tablet is utterly harmless, and practically tasteless; it may be taken with a swallow of water, or just taken in the mouth and chewed-up. Perfect ease and comfort follow this simple and sensible precaution.

Stuart's tablets contain only what is thoroughly good for you; a happy combination of Calcium Carbonate, Magnesia and other soothing things which promote alkalinity and a serene condition of the stomach.

SENATE COAL GROUP READY FOR INQUIRY

Will Leave Washington Tonight for Pittsburgh To Probe Conditions

Washington, Feb. 22—The special Senate Coal Committee leaves tonight for Pittsburgh for a first hand investigation into charges of brutality and suffering in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields. The inquiry was requested by the United Mine Workers.

It will be the third time in history that a Senate committee has gone into mining camps to survey conditions brought about by a strike. Twice before inquisitorial bodies went into West Virginia, scene of bloody clashes between miners and operators. Never before, however, has the Senate undertaken a general inquiry into the bituminous industry. Extended hearings will be held after the committee returns. The scope will include West Virginia and Ohio in addition to Pennsylvania.

The present inspection will be brief. The committee plans only to obtain a general picture of actual conditions to lay the groundwork for a more detailed and leisurely investigation later. The schedule calls for the committee to return to Washington Sunday.

Headquarters will be maintained in Pittsburgh and trips will be made each day by automobile to nearby mines and camps.

It is amusing as well as next to impossible to get a literary idea into the head of a man who doesn't want literary ideas there.

MARTEL "OLD FOGGIES" TO CLASH ON CAGE COURT

Martel, Feb. 22—Under the auspices of the Martel Parent-Teachers Association, the "old foggies" of the east and west side will meet in a basket ball game, Thursday night, Feb. 23. Two games will be played. One between the women and one between the men.

For the past two years these games have been played and much interest has been aroused.

STAGE SURPRISE

Agosta, Feb. 22—The members of the Agosta Sunday School orchestra and a few friends pleasantly surprised Miss Frances Imbody, Sunday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary, at her home south of Agosta. A number of beautiful gifts were received by Miss Imbody. The time was spent with musical selections and socially.

Intimate Glimpses into the Lives of Members of the Marion County Bar.

BY HARRY S. ELLIOTT

JUDGE WILLIAM R. MARTIN

WILLIAM R. Martin first won distinction as being the youngest municipal judge ever elected in Ohio, and possibly the entire country. Since then, during his little more than a year in office he has added to that honor by conducting his court in a manner which has elicited general praise and commendation from persons conversant with its operations.

Judge Martin was 27 years of age when voters of the city elected him as their first municipal judge from a field of four candidates. This was a second event in his career showing that it is profitable to get an early start.

The first was his graduation from law school at Ada in 1920, when he was only 20 years of age. Being below the legal age, he was forced to wait until after his twenty-first birthday for admittance to the bar. That took place in December, 1920.

Begins Practice at Once

Judge Martin began the practice of law immediately after being qualified. His first case in court was as defense lawyer for a man indicted on criminal charges by the county grand jury. Martin was given the opportunity through appointment from the common pleas judge, a courtesy frequently extended to young attorneys to assist them in "getting a start."

The youthful lawyer lost his first case but was not discouraged, realizing that even the best in his profession taste defeat occasionally.

He was elected judge of Marion's new municipal court in Nov. 1926 and took charge of the office on Jan. 1, 1927. His election was for a four-year term.

Plenty of Work

The record of the court's first year indicates that the judge had plenty to occupy his attention. Disposition was made of 968 criminal cases and 961 civil actions. Out of this list, only five of Judge Martin's rulings were appealed to the common pleas court.

Judge Martin was born in Richwood on Sept. 29, 1899, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin. His mother is deceased and his father resides at 137 S. Main-st.

The family moved from Richwood to Marion in 1914, Judge Martin completing his common school education here, graduating from the local high school in 1917.

The same year he enrolled in the law school of Ohio Northern University at Ada.

GEORGE W. CAREY, 83, STRICKEN AT AGOSTA

Apoplexy Assigned as Cause of Death; Funeral Thursday Afternoon

George W. Carey, 83, lifelong resident of Agosta, died suddenly at his home there last night after an illness of three days. Death, due to apoplexy, came at 9 o'clock.

Funeral services are to be held at the M. E. Church at Agosta at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon with the pastor, Rev. M. J. Plotts, officiating. Burial will be in Agosta Cemetery.

Mr. Carey was born near Agosta May 20, 1841, and was the son of Wingett and Tamer Longuere Carey, the former a native of Delaware state, the latter a Pennsylvanian. He was united in marriage to Miss Marjorie Chambers in this city Nov. 18, 1867, she having preceded him in death 21 years ago.

Two daughters, Mrs. R. J. Pennell of Columbus and Mrs. Clark Longshore of Agosta, a son, D. E. Carey of Portland, Ore., four sisters, Mrs. C. H. Irey of Shelby, Mrs. Joseph Severns of LaRue, Mrs. Charles Gillespie of Agosta and Mrs. Samuel Cooper of this city, two brothers, C. L. Carey and Wingett C. Carey of Agosta, two grandchildren and one greatgrandchild survive him.

FORECLOSURE ASKED BY J. M. BARRINGER

Brings Action Against Bernard Bramlage and Others in Common Pleas Court

James M. Barringer is plaintiff in a suit brought in Common Pleas Court yesterday against Bernard Bramlage and others, in which he asks for foreclosure of a mortgage on a farm in Montgomery Township for payment of a claim of $9,554.24.

Judgment is sought against Bernard, Christ and Lulu Bramlage, William A. Stage, Hugh C. Tyler and J. Harry Brown, who have held title to the property at different times since the mortgage was drawn on Oct. 15, 1926. Stage, the petition states, was the owner at the time the loan was made. The original amount was $10,000.

The suit was filed through the law firm of Mouser, Young and Mouser.

Reply Filed

The Reed Investment Co., Florida corporation, which is plaintiff in a suit brought against Mrs. J. L. Hoover of this city, filed its reply to the defendant's answer yesterday and denies all of her allegations.

The company asks judgment for $2,500, claimed to be the amount due on a contract for sale of land in Florida. Mrs. Hoover, it is alleged, issued a check for the amount and then stopped payment. In her answer, Mrs. Hoover stated that she had no contract with the company and that the check was not to be presented for payment until she granted the authority.

He invariably pursued the same plan during the trying period preceding examinations and other important stages of his college career, Oberlander informed his audience.

Oberlander, who is now head line coach in football at Ohio State University, also urged that young people go to college primarily to study and enrich their minds and not for the purpose of giving the most of their attention to athletics, fraternities or other outside activities.

Athletics he said, have a proper and important place in educational life, but that place is secondary.

"Colleges would continue to exist and thrive without athletics, social or fraternal activities," he said.

Cites Illustrations

As an illustration, he said that a large percentage of students at O. S. U. who were counted upon for this year's football squad have been disqualified for failure to register a sufficiently high standing in their studies. These young men, he said, have apparently permitted athletics and other outside interests to detract from their efficiency as students.

He urged the public to refrain from undue criticism of athletes in any branch of sport. In this discussion, he referred to the case of an O. S. U. football player whose mistake in judgment was primarily responsible for the team's defeat by Michigan two years ago.

He deplored the criticisms aimed at this player following the game, especially those coming from newspaper reporters.

"Had any one of these critics been the father of that boy, most certainly their comments would have been of another nature," Oberlander said.

In his talk he likened the relationship of father and son to the associates of a football coach with his squad. Close fellowship and thorough understanding should prevail, he said.

150 Attend

The banquet and program, held in the basement of the First Reformed Church on S. Prospect-st. was one of the most successful father and son events held here in recent years. More than 150 were in attendance.

George Stafford, president of the Senior Hi-Y, presided and gave the opening address. The program also included invocation by Rev. H. F. Weckmueller, song service led by Robert Knauss and music by a high school orchestra under the direction of William Guthery.

Edward Ruzzo spoke in behalf of the sons and response for the fathers was given by Dr. B. L. George.

A special entertainment feature was a burlesque on "The Two Black Crows" by Clyde Coulter and Leonard Young.

The program was concluded with an induction ceremony in which nine new members were received into the Hi-Y. George Stafford presided and other officers taking part were Edward Sloan, Charles Evans, Vance Harden, Harold Waddell and Gerald Zimmer.

Members of all local Hi-Y clubs were present. These include the Senior, Vernon Heights, Central Junior and Sophomore Clubs.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock by women of the First Reformed Church.

MAY LOSE SUM

Doris Duke, 15-year-old daughter of the late James B. Duke, tobacco king, may have $8,000,000 sliced off her fortune because a Newark, N. J., court has awarded that sum to George D. Haskell, Boston engineer, in a suit against the estate. Doris, the richest girl in the world, may even lose $34,000,000 if Haskell succeeds in getting triple damages. However, she'll still have enough to get by on, as her total fortune is $150,000,000.

FAIL TO FIND TRIO

Prisoners Saw Way Through County Jail, Flee in Auto

New Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 22—State troopers had found no trace early today of the three prisoners who sawed their way through the steel wall of their cell in the Middlesex County Jail here last night and escaped in an automobilee after overpowering two guards.

The fugitives are "Dapper Dan" Watts, 25, of Princeton, N. J., Arthur Huff, 25, of Perth Amboy, N. J., and Neophitas Savras of New Brunswick. A man who visited Huff yesterday is believed to have supplied the trio with a saw.

The prisoners sawed a hole in the steel wall of their cell and crawled through it. They overpowered two guards in the jail office with revolvers supplied by their accomplice, took their keys and vanished. Officers in the police station across the street failed to see them.

CIRCLE NO. 11 SERVES SMART CLASS DINNER

Through a typographical error appearing in the account of the Smart Sunday School class social in yesterday's issue of the Star, it was erroneously stated that dinner was served by women of Circle No. 1 of Epworth M. E. Church. The account should have given the credit to Circle No. 11, the committee in charge of arrangements reported today.

COLORED MAN CHARGED WITH STEALING COAL

Charged with stealing 2,000 pounds of coal, part of which was sold to his friends, William Boyd, 30, colored, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Hocking Valley police and was given a fine of $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge before Municipal Judge William R. Martin. He was unable to pay the fine and was committed to the county jail pending payment of the fine.

According to Hocking Valley police, Boyd stole the coal from Hocking Valley cars in the local yards and sold it to his friends.

"Skin Diseases" That Destroy Some Pavement Surfaces

—they do not affect brick!

A brick surface adds years of life to a pavement

Weather, which helps destroy pavement, works from the surface down. Traffic, too, attacks surface. Unless surfaced with a material specially qualified to withstand this damage, watch out for "skin diseases" of your pavement! They show in checked, pock-marked surfaces.

Water, entering pavement surface either by absorption or through tiny cracks, starts destruction when it freezes. Traffic pounds at these defects and rapidly increases them.

Paving brick, being vitrified, is waterproof—does not absorb water. Laid on any good base and bound with asphalt, it is a surface that absolutely keeps water out. What's more, with its shock absorbing sand cushion, it has the resilience—the "give"—pavement surface must have to protect the base from heavy-load pounding.

Thus brick is two things: the toughest wearing surface you can put on street or road; and the surest protection for pavement base.

That is why all known records prove it to be the cheapest, yet highest value pavement, the money of taxpayers can buy!

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build new-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 535 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

PROSPECT DEFEATS AGOSTA IN COUNTY LEAGUE CAGE GAME

Losers Put Up Great Battle in First Half Only To Lose Out

Second place honors in the western division of the Marion County Basketball league were awarded Prospect Tuesday afternoon when Agosta cagers were defeated, 31 to 20.

Neither team exhibited championship basketball that has characterized their play so far this season. Prospect will meet Waldo in the county tourney Friday night.

The attack of the victorious cagers was centered around "Tiny" Johnson. He was the starting point of practically every play with his height and weight being utilized to a great advantage.

The first half found Agosta putting up a great battle and things looked bad for Prospect. At the first quarter Agosta led 9 to 5 and in the second frame Prospect cut down the lead to 14 to 12.

In the third quarter the Prospect cagers opened up with a brilliant offense that swept the Agosta five off its feet. Prospect went into the lead as the third quarter ended, 20 to 17. In final period found the winners scoring almost at will.

Johnson was the star of the game while Soloman was high scorer with 13 points. Johnson accounted for seven points. Rush scored 10 points from two baskets and six fouls for the losers.

TALKS TO EUROPE

Radio Operator Sends Message Received in Pyrenees Mountains

KENTON, Feb. 22—Sending and receiving a radio message across the Atlantic Ocean, between Ada, O., and Cambo, in the French Pyrenees, nearly 4,000 miles distant, was the remarkable experience of James Brewer, local radio operator, on Jan. 18. Verification of the long distance conversation was completed here when a postal card was received by Mr. Brewer from Louis Berger, station ER8ER, the man at the other end of the line in the Pyrenees.

The post card which states that the message from Ada was received distinctly, reached Mr. Brewer 21 days after the long distance conversation and satisfied local skeptics that no mistake had been made. Mr. Brewer's station is 8DCG.

"Your message is coming in like a local station," the Frenchman replied on 38 meter wave length, at 12:30 a. m., on Jan. 18. Mr. Brewer says at that hour he was unable to hear a single station in the United States. It was the first time in his years of radio sending and receiving that he had noted such phenomenal conditions.

SCHOOLS CLOSE TO HONOR PRESIDENTS

Galion Students and Teachers Give Programs To Honor Washington, Lincoln

Galion, Feb. 22—Appropriate patriotic programs were given in schools of the city yesterday with addresses on the lives of Lincoln and Washington featuring. At the high school, Dayle Molder, instructor in the science department, had charge of the chapel program and gave a message of interest concerning patriotism. He gave brief sketches of all the wars fought by the United States, telling incidents and results of each and giving character studies of the great leaders. Theodore Schaefer at the organ furnished music suitable and the high school orchestra played a group of numbers.

Other schools of the city observed the day with assemblies and students programs consisting of readings, drills and songs. Principals and teachers gave special addresses stressing the admirable qualities of the American leaders. Schools of the city were closed today in further observance of the day.

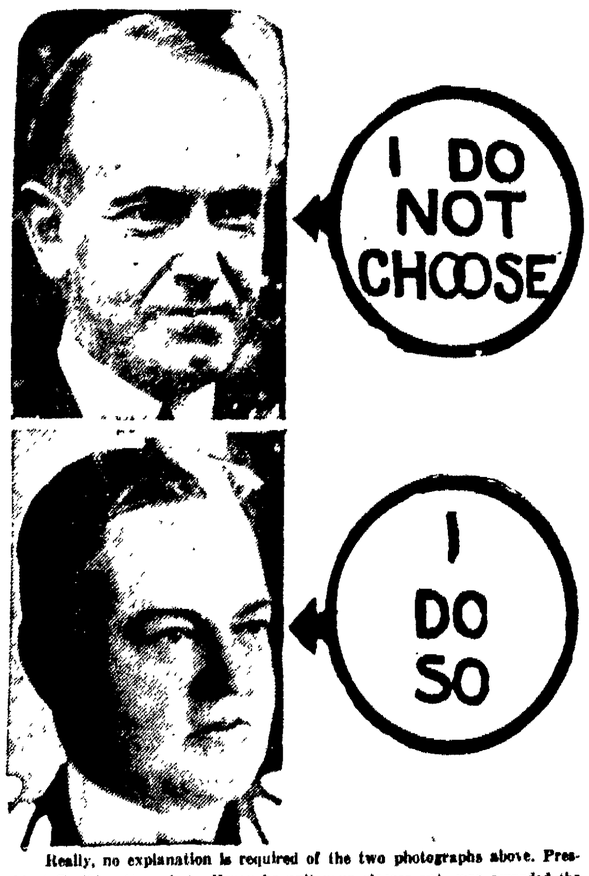
BREVITY'S THE SOUL OF WIT



Really, no explanation is required of the two photographs above. President Coolidge (top photo, if you haven't your glasses on), was awarded the palm for terseness last summer when he made his famous short speech, but Herbert Hoover (lower), cut his announcement of his candidacy even shorter.. than the President's renunciation of the nomination by condensing his message into three words.

TWO GALION CLUBS ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Research Club Meets in First M. E. Church; Round Table Club Has Program

Galion, Feb. 22—Guest meetings of two of the prominent women's clubs of the city, occupied an important place on the social calendar yesterday. The members of the Research Club observed guest night at a lovely party given in the social rooms of the First Methodist Church. Patriotic colors were used in decorating and the patriotic theme was carried through the entire program. Mrs. Henry Quiggle, president of the organization, gave the welcome address and Mrs. Leslie Smith was in charge of the program which was given entirely by children of the club members.

Martha Carol Schaffner, Jean Stevens and Catharine Carmel were heard in readings, and Alice Jeanette Ness gave a musical reading with piano accompaniment by Eva Smith. Martha Freer, Bobby Stevens and Eva Smith gave piano numbers and a group of the children presented a two-act play. A patriotic drill was given under the direction of Harriet Newman and as a closing feature a number of the children, garbed in colonial costume danced a graceful minuet. Mrs. John Stotler headed the committee in charge of the refreshments.

Mrs. Deane Talbott was hostess at the annual mother's night sponsored by the Round Table Club, at her home, Harding Way W. A feature of the program was the presentation of a one act play, "Araminta and the Finger Bowls," a delightful comedy. Katharine Quay, Blossom Burgert, Mrs. Walter Hessenbaur, Mrs. E. P. Monroe and Mrs. Russell Stewart took the parts in the play. Mrs. Donald Townsend sang a group of vocal solos with Mrs. J. V. Motsch assisting at the piano and following a social time luncheon was served by the committee in charge.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING REPORTED CRITICAL

Mrs. Victoria Iiams Is Suffering from Loss of Blood and Exposure

Bucyrus, Feb. 22—Mrs. Victoria Iiams, who was shot in the arm by her husband in a lane to their home, four miles from Bucyrus is reported by Mounett Memorial Hospital authorities to be critically ill from the effect of frozen feet and legs and from loss of blood due to the amputation of her arm.

Mrs. Iiams feet were frozen from the exposure to the icy drifts through which she waded to reach the home of a neighbor. Hope is expressed that she may be able to retain her feet.

Mr. Iiams is in the county jail on bond of $10,000. He pleaded not guilty to charge of shooting with intent to kill. Should his wife succumb to the effects of the gun shot wound it is expected that charges of murder will be placed against him.

CUTS TEETH AT 82

Aunt of Kenton Grocer Is Getting Third Set of Molars

KENTON, Feb. 22—Mrs. Mary Bigelow, aunt of J. W. Hennon, prominent Kenton grocer, is 82 years of age and she is cutting her third set of teeth.

She has been toothless for years.

A story telling of the unusual incident has been received here by Mr. Hennon in the form of a clipping take from the Salem (Oregon) Capital News.

The aged woman has visited in Kenton numerous times and with relatives in Spencerville, west of here. Her 82 years don't interfere with Mrs. Bigelow's regular mode of living. Each day she walks a mile into PeEll, Ore., to get her mail.

Besides this remarkable dentition experience, Mrs. Bigelow has the distinction of being the great grandmother of 19 children.

KENTON GUARDSMEN DEFEAT NAPOLEON

Winners Take Revenge for Previous Loss; Win 58 to 21

Kenton, Feb. 22—Kenton's Ohio National guardsmen had easy sledding last night at the armory when they trampled the Napoleon Guard 58 to 21 in their second game of the season. In a previous contest at Napoleon the locals lost by a wide margin.

The visiting club was unable to compete with the Company E men in any department of the game and at no time did they come close to even threatening the locals.

From the sound of the first whistle Kenton players began looping in ringers scoring at will. At the end of the quarter the locals were leading 24 to 4 and the half ended with the score 34 to 8 in favor of Kenton. The line-ups and summary:

Foreign Menace Doesn't Frighten Hollywood Now

MUCH has been said and a great deal written about the so-called "foreign invasion" of the motion picture industry, but after all the hue and cry has died down denizens of Hollywood have found out that they've been quivering in fear before the hollow shell of a scarecrow.

At one time, to be true, it looked as though native-born American players were going to be swept aside in the rush for European importations.

You heard all sorts of talk about this one and that, and how he or she would soon be the idol of all the more or less United States.

And now that all the shootin's over, what do we find?

Just exactly one—ONE—imported star is firmly established in the celluloid factories, and that one is Greta Garbo.

What has happened to Greta Nissen? To Lya de Putti? And to a score of others who were even less noted?

Incidentally, what did really happen to Pola Negri? What has she done—if anything—since the time she appeared over here in "Passion" and created something more than a furore?

Did Negri's vogue wane—or was she given too many "sausage" pictures?

The bald fact remains that Pola is still working on a six months' contract, and at the expiration of that period her option MAY be renewed—or may not. Nobody can tell.

Among all the players mentioned above, Greta Garbo seems to have "taken hold" the best. Miss Garbo came here unheralded. She enjoyed none of the publicity that preceded Negri and Jannings. Greta was just another foreign leading woman and took a chance on being taken or left. Of course, Miss Garbo was fortunate in the important matter of casting. She invariable found herself in good stories and this right from the start. She was a new type and, besides being a type, she could act. It seems that Greta just couldn't do anything that wasn't interesting and, according to our best authorities, it is better to be interesting than beautiful.

It wouldn't be fair to write about foreigners who have failed, but suffice it to say that of the many who were called over here few have been chosen by the public. The scare about importations is over and the American actor is reassured that he can do things as well as his foreign cousin.

Bucyrus Youth Will Ride Ponies for State at Culver

Columbus, Feb. 22—A Bucyrus youth, Clarence Zinche, will be a member of the Ohio State University polo team when the Buckeyes meet the polo squad of Culver Military Academy, at Culver, Ind., next Saturday.

Zinche and the rest of his teammates will leave for Culver, Friday morning. They will be furnished with mounts from the Culver stables.

The Bucyrus youth is a sophomore at the university and is entered in the College of Liberal Arts.

DON'T BLAME FOOD FOR INDIGESTION

When pain and discomfort follow a meal don't blame the food and decide to go on a diet. Nine times out of ten indigestion, acidity, flatulence and heartburn are caused by excess stomach acid and food fermentation.

Even the worst attacks, however, are quickly stopped by taking a little "Pape's Diapepsin," which instantly neutralizes the excess acidity, stops fermentation, and soothes and heals the acid-inflamed stomach lining. Make a special point of getting a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from your druggist today, and so follow the example of millions all over the world who use "Pape's Diapepsin" to end indigestion and allied stomach troubles.

With "Pape's Diapepsin" handy you can eat and enjoy whatever you fancy without fear of pain or discomfort to follow.—Adv.

WELL-KNOWN MARION CONTRACTOR

Finds Quick Relief From Stomach, Kidney, Bladder and Rheumatic Troubles

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE DISEASE

The Sykodoner Is the Answer As Usual

"For fifteen years I suffered so with rheumatic pains in my back, shoulders and other parts of the body that I often actually cried. I doctored and doctored, here, there and almost everywhere, tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Hundreds of dollars in money and much valuable time was wasted to find relief," said Mr. Ben Zink, aged 59, one of the best known Marion building contractors and painters, residing at 465 Patterson-st. "My stomach and kidneys gave me more or less trouble, too. I had to get up frequently during the night. But, oh, my! what wonderful relief I found, after just a few treatments with the Sykodoner, which is causing so much excitement in Marion just now. I would never have believed that such quick relief was possible, from so simple a treatment. I cannot find words adequate enough to express my new found happiness. I feel like telling everybody about it. And why shouldn't I, when I know what it has done for me? I have told many others and shall continue to do so.

"A number of my friends are also using the Sykodoner, for their ills and pains. As also many others I have met: and without a single exception all I have talked to, say it is surely doing the work for them."

Regardless what your ailment is, or how long standing, do not give up until you have looked into this. You may ever after be very glad indeed you did so, same as many others now.

Call any day, and let us show you the most amazing invention of the day. It is based on a simple scientific theory. Every theory must stand or fall by its results. No drugs, serum, surgery, rubbing, or even faith, necessary. Surely a return to health is worth investigating. Scores and scores of the representative citizens of Marion are now using it, in the comfort of their own homes, at very little cost. And, best of all, some of the results they obtained are so strikingly remarkable, that one can barely believe it, without seeing it, with one's own eyes. Ask us about it. This is free. Harding Basketeers Will Play Aquinas In First Round

DELAWARE TOURNEY LINE-UP ANNOUNCED BY H. R. TOWNSEND

Twelve Teams Entered; Three Columbus Schools Draw Bye in First Round

By KARL R. M'ELROY
Sports Editor

Fate missed Harding High School cagers yesterday afternoon when she dished out her favors at the Class A drawings of the basketball tournament in Delaware March 2 and 3.

To win, Harding will play two games in the first round meeting Columbus Aquinas on Friday and Columbus South Saturday.

Drawings for the tournament were made yesterday in the office of H. R. Townsend, state commissioner of high school athletics in Columbus.

Twelve teams will take part in the tournament with four being idle the first day. Three of the five Columbus teams drew byes and will not play the first day, Mt. Vernon received the other bye.

Teams entered in the tournament are Mt. Vernon, Columbus West, Westerville, Columbus East, Columbus Central, Columbus North, Delaware, Lancaster, Newark, Aquinas, Marion Harding and Columbus South.

The Harding High School cagers last night held their first workout at the Steam Shovel gym in preparation for the final game of the season with Delaware Friday night.

After that contest Coach Compton will point his team to the district tournament. To win the meet Compton's team must win four games, two the first round and a like number the second.

Four teams will go into action in the second half of the tournament on March 9 and 10. The winner will go to the state tourney the following week.

WELL RESTED

Loughran Will Not Defend Title for Three Months

New York, Feb. 22— Tommy Loughran, world's light heavyweight champion, says he will not defend his title for at least three months. Well rested and packing some extra weight, Loughran has returned from a month's cruise in the West Indies.

Loughran will take on the winner of the elimination bout between Leo Lomski, of Aberdeen, Wash., and Joe Sekyra, of Dayton, Ohio, who have signed for a 10-round battle here on March 30. The title bout may not be held until July, however, because Loughran has hopes of fighting Gene Tunney here in June. If that bout fails to materialize, he may fight one or both of the losers in Tex Rickard's heavyweight eliminations.

FIRST AT CAMP

This is the first photo of the season from the sunny south, where the ball teams train. It is Eddie Brown of the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg, Fla., putting on a solo act in batting practice. His teammates will follow him at the end of the month.

JIMMY M'LARNIN TO FIGHT TERRIS BEFORE LARGE GATE FRIDAY

Sid Backed by Eight to Five Odds To Win Over Slugger

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 22—Sid Terris and Jimmy McLarnin, both claiming Sammy Mandell for their very own will play to the second largest gate of the indoor season on Friday night with probably as much as $85,000 in the house, it was estimated at Madison Square Garden today. According to the same figures, five dollars will get you eight more if you think McLarnin is due to win and he doesn't fool you.

There is plenty of reason for the first circumstance and none at all for the second. If McLarnin really is worse than even money then John L. Sullivan was a soft shoe dancer.

As for the big money angle to the proceedings, it just couldn't miss. This fight is a high hat in a bargain basement. It stands out as the greatest lightweight attraction since the Leonard-Tendler meetings, yet they have priced it from $2 to $10. The sum of $85,000 is a trifle difficult to compile from that kind of money but the boys say they can do it. Only the Sharkey-Heeney fight, which was priced away up, has bettered this total through the winter months.

Good Investment

However, a punch in the nose is just as important as money to those who happily get neither. Without visible regret, I, therefore, am able to turn my attention to the former by stating that a punch on the nose is far more acceptable at odds of 5 to 8 than it could possibly be at the reverse price. McLarnin looks the part of a very sound investment at the odds quoted. For one thing his record of the last two years is better than Terris'. The latter used to be a leaping Lena or something but he came down off his toes, for reasons best known to himself, and this procedure immediately got him a clip on the beard from every sap he encountered. Terris, the man they called the Will-O-th-Wisp, has spent a lot of his time on the floor in his more recent fights.

It would appear, therefore, that he can be hit with a good fast punch and McLarnin has it. Only a high class puncher could have stopped Louis Kid Kaplan, Joey Sangor and Jackie Fields and dropped Billy Wallace, and the word is that McLarnin is more than a puncher. An optimist has made him a consolidation of Freddie Welsh and Packey McFarland, combining the best features of both.

Would you make a man like that a 5 to 8 shot? So would I—if they let me stake the five.

Perhaps, they figure McLarnin will have real trouble with the weight, 135 pounds. Perhaps they think the distance, 10 rounds, favors Terris. Perhaps they are giving 100 percent of credulity to the understanding that Terris is coming out there on his kangaroo again, as, indeed, he must if he wants to win this one. According to most accounts, if he starts trading some one will have to start counting almost right away.

All of these ideas make McLarnin look like a very good thing; yet the Garden sharks say there is no McLarnin money on view. That is one condition I can alter, even if it takes the whole $4.31.

Training Camp Briefs

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Feb. 22—"They look good to me," said Owner William "Bill" Wrigley today following a visit to the Cubs training camp where he gave his 1928 pennant hopes a searching "once over." Wrigley, wrapped in a heavy sweater, sat on the bench and watched a spirited half hour of batting and fielding practice. Some of the veterans appeared stiff of joint, but the youngsters gamboled in mid-season form.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—The world's champion New York Yankees will not have much of a holdout problem next winter, for they are signing their stars to two and three-year contracts. The latest Yankee to be "sewed up" is Wiley Moore, crack relief pitcher who was one of the heroes of the last world series. He signed a two-year contract which is understood to call for a substantial salary increase.

• • •

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 22 — While the experts have been predicting that Andy Cohen or Andy Reese would play second place on the New York Giants in place of the departed Rogers Hornsby, it appeared today that Melvin Ott, 18-year-old New Orleans "veteran," may get the job. John McGraw is giving Ott a tryout at the keystone sack.

Ott, formerly a catcher, was substitute outfielder on the team last season.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22 — Pat Duncan and Sammy Bohne, former members of the Cincinnati Reds, stood victorious today in their libel suit against Collyer's Eye, a weekly sporting paper published in Chicago.

Judge Walter C. Lindley of the federal court instructed the jury to award the plaintiffs damages of $50 each.

The suit was filed in 1923, the ball players charging the paper had damaged their characters by stating that gamblers had approached them in regards to "throwing games" in a series with the New York Giants.

MEET TODAY

Boston, Feb. 22 — England and America meet this afternoon to decide the national singles racquet championship. Clarence C. Pell, of New York, defending titleholder, matches shots with C. N. Bruce, of England, at the Tennis and Racquet Club. Pell defeated J. C. T. Simpson, England, in the semi-finals while Bruce defeated Stanley G. Mortimer, New York.

Sophomore Quintet Wins St. Mary's Court Honors

Defeat Juniors in Final Game at Y. M. C. A., 17 to 8; Senior and Freshman Cagers Eliminated in First Round of Tournament

As a result of defeating Freshmen and Junior cagers, the Sophomore class basketeers are champions of St. Mary's High School having won the annual inter-class tournament at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The Juniors were eliminated in the final round after having defeated the Seniors, 28 to 7. The Sophomores played the Yearling team in the first round winning, 18 to 3.

In defeating the Juniors 17 to 8, the school champions presented a well balanced team. Scoring was evenly divided with no outstanding stars contributing to the victory.

Gorsuch, Lares and Kelley each scored four poins in the final game for the winners.

All games were exceptionally rough with the bigger team having the advantage over its opponents. One upset occurred when the Seniors were defeated by the Juniors.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Kansas City—Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis heavyweight, awarded newspaper decision over Jimmy Byrne, Louisville (10).

At Los Angeles—Bert Colima, Mexican middleweight, drew with Joe Anderson, of Kentucky (10).

SURE WINNERS

Philadelphia, Feb. 22—Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A. flyer, and Ray Conger, the Illinois A. C. runner who beat Hahn last week, are sure winners as long as they compete in separate races. Each turned in a sparkling victory in the Meadowbrook Club Games here last night.

In the mile, Hahn turned in the fastest time of the season: 4:17 1-5. He defeated G. Elliott of North Carolina and three others. Conger won the 660 yard event from Pinkie Sober and a dozen others.

TO ATTEMPT COMEBACK

New York, Feb. 22—The Rev. Harold C. Cutbill, the "flying parson" who broke several running records before he was suspended six years ago, will attempt a comeback at the Masonic Games in Brooklyn tonight.

Cutbill, who is 30 years old, hopes to make the Olympic team.

WILL GET FIRST CRACK

New York, Feb. 22—If Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, world's welterweight champion, is reinstated by the New York Boxing Commission, he will give Ace Hudkins first crack at the title. Through Art Hudkins, his brother-manager, the Nebraska welter has filed a challenge against Dundee with the New York Commission.

Managers Leave Ohio Conference Association After Mail Vote

GRANVILLE, Feb. 22—Withdrawal of the Managers Association of the Buckeye Athletic Association, from the Managers Association of the Ohio Conference, was announced here today by Walter J. Livingston, president of the B. A. A., managers.

The withdrawal, it was pointed out by Livingston, will mean that the B. A. A. will schedule games and compile its own standings without reference to the 17 other college teams in the Ohio Conference. This will affect all sports except track events, it was said.

The vote of the six B. A. A. managers was made by mail, Livingston said.

$50 DOWN

Sale of USED CARS

Every one a real buy—many closed (ideal for winter)—are offered today by leading Used Car merchants during Used Car Week for $50 down.

And that's exactly what they mean—$50 down takes any one of these reconditioned, rebuilt used cars off their floors.

Show Time is here! Sales on new models mean more "trade-ins." Dealers must clean house—they need room—they do not wish to carry their cars over the winter.

Pick out your car today from the great used car directory in the Want Ad columns.

General Business Improvement is Predicted

MARKET CLOSED FOR HOLIDAY

Recovery by End of March Will Be of Moderate Proportions

New York, Feb. 22—All American markets, security as well as commodity, banking institutions and the bulk of the industrial and commercial houses are closed today in observance of the Washington's birthday anniversary. Foreign markets with close interrelation to corresponding American institutions will operate at comparatively small proportions. Dealings in foreign exchange have been suspended for the day.

Business leaders in the Wall Street district expect further improvement in the general business situation by the end of March, but the recovery will probably be one of moderate proportions. Fundamental trade and credit conditions are sound, even though the stock market has been acting contrarywise, and most likely needs further "correction" as a result of extravagant speculation and manipulation of the so-called specialty stocks.

Steel Output Greater

Standard Statistics Co. has computed the January steel output at 30 per cent. greater than in December, and about five per cent. greater than in January a year ago. Steel prices have been rising, and the prospects are for another increase in the second quarter of the year, though the steel manufacturers, if they are wise, will not attempt to press their advantage too far.

Automobile output also scored a sharp January gain, with Ford plants making little or no contribution thereto. According to current reports, Ford has orders for 800,000 cars on his books and he will be compelled to speed up his plants enormously if he is to make deliveries of even accumulated orders this year. For the country as a whole, last month's output of cars and trucks was 41 per cent above December.

Building construction, one of the most important key industries, is very active. Making necessary correction for seasonal influences, construction square footage in January contracts was six per cent greater than in December and nearly 20 per cent greater than in January of last year.

Two Show Increase

Only two of the first 15 important railroad systems to report net earnings for 1927 were able to show an increase as compared with the previous year. Measured against the results for 1925, each of these roads showed a gain in gross income and two in net income. One of the principal reasons for the poor showing last year was of course the huge decline in coal freight loadings in the strike areas. Total freight car loadings are down about 7 1-2 per cent from the corresponding period last year, making up the first six months of the calendar year.

Since the first upward readjustment of Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rates there has been a negligible shrinkage of about $5,000,000 in the aggregate of the so-called brokers' loans from the member banks. It goes without saying that this is far from satisfactory to the reserve bank powers-that-be, and that further measures will be taken to purify the credit situation if necessary.

Selling Too High

Recalling the sharp decline in stock prices exactly two years ago, it will be remembered that within two months after the reserve board thundered forth its warning, brokers' borrowings had contracted $700,000,000. Stock prices moved down 16 per cent, amounting to an average of 26 points in the so-called statistical averages.

It seems unlikely that 1926 speculative history will repeat itself this year, owing to the widespread holdings of industrial and railroad stocks, but there is little doubt that many of the market specialties are selling too high.

SELL GRANVILLE PAPER

Granville, Feb. 22—Sale of the Times & Publishing Co. to D. W. Young and brothers, was announced here today. The weekly newspaper and printing plant was sold for the estate of the late John S. Jones.

FINDS BODY, DIES

Toledo, Feb. 22—Swooning when she found the lifeless body of her husband, Joseph Grieshaber, 69, Mrs. Agnes Grieshaber, 59, died five hours later of a heart attack, Coroner Krefft reported here today. The husband died of apoplexy, shortly after cleaning snow from his walks.

CHAMPION OF ALL CHAMPIONS

This, ladies and gentlemen, is Talavera Margaret, who has been picked as the prize dog of all the blue ribbon winners at the Westminster Kennel Club dog show—the biggest annual event of dogdom—at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Midweek markets were busy today with dealers carrying fairly large supplies of all seasonable fruits and vegetables. Prices were unchanged from yesterday. New potatoes are coming in in small quantities, but large enough to meet the demand, dealers say. The price is holding at two pounds for 25 cents. New peas also are only fairly plentiful and are being offered at 20 cents a pound. Dealers were carrying only a small supply of new cabbage that was selling at two pounds for 25 cents. While the quality is good, the demand is light, dealers report.

Old cabbage continues to supply a large demand at four cents a pound. Green onions were being offered today at five cents a bunch the price being unchanged from earlier in the week. Butter is being quoted at prices from 46 to 52 cents a pound and eggs at 35 cents, the latter showing a decline of one cent under the price of yesterday.

Carrots, parsnips and turnips are supplying a limited demand at five cents a pound. Old potatoes are holding at 35 to 40 cents a peck. Cauliflower is only fairly plentiful. A price of from 27 to 35 cents was being asked by dealers today.

Bananas are selling at three pounds for 25 cents and 10 cents a pound straight. Dealers report a heavy sale of oranges at 16 for 25 cents to 65 cents a dozen. California grapes continue to supply a limited demand at 30 cents a pound.

Retail meat dealers report prices steady with buying about normal. Pork prices continue low with no prospects for an immediate advance. Beef prices are high.

TWO MASKED MEN ROB 20 IN GAMBLING HOUSE

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 22—Backing 20 men against the wall in a Dunmore Borough gambling resort early today, three masked bandits gathered $2,000 from the gaming tables and escaped in a waiting automobile.

There is never any real danger in allowing a pedestal for a hero. He never has time to sit on it. One sees him always over and over again kicking his pedestal out from under him and using it to batter the world with.—Lee.

Grain Market

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 22—A sharp bulge in corn, which sent May to a new high of 99¾c on the precent upturn, was the feature in yesterday's grain trade. Leading locals took the buying side early and trade was active throughout the session. Rising prices caused shorts to cover and sellers of privileges to protect themselves.

Advances were well maintained and closing prices were near the top, showing gains of 1⅝@2¼c. March closed at 98c, May 99¾c and July $1.01⅝.

Wheat ruled firm, but trade was rather limited and advances were mainly on the strength of corn. There was good buying at times by commission houses with eastern and foreign connections. Prices held within a comparatively narrow range. The close was firm and near the high points, prices registering advances of ⅝c to 1¼c. March closed at $1.33⅝, May $1.34⅝ and July $1.32.

Oats Are Strong

Oats showed more strength than for some time past, due to a better cash situation and the strength in corn, finishing ⅝c to ⅞c higher. Rye continued to gain strength on reports of a brisk foreign demand and closed ⅝c to 1⅜c higher.

Further advices of damages to the Winter wheat crop brought fair buying of the July delivery and that future was the strongest. The Kansas weekly report pointed out that while crop conditions were greatly improved, the ultimatum effect of recent moisture in the western third of the state is still in doubt.

Broomhall said that uncertain foreign crop conditions, which were responsible in part for Liverpool's advances Monday, were improving due to milder weather. His foreign crop summary says conditions over the world are generally good.

Liverpool Lower

Apart from crop reports, there was little of interest in wheat news. Liverpool moved about as due, closing ⅝d lower. Cables said there is a good demand for flour in the United Kingdom. Buenos Aires was closed. Winnipeg was firm and higher, finishing ¼@⅜ up.

Most of the Continental exchanges were closed, and although seaboard advised of a good inquiry for wheat, the volume of transactions was not large. Local cash wheat trade was of small volume. The inquiry was good but offerings were light. Basis was unchanged and firm with prices unchanged to ½c higher. Local sales, 21,000 bu.; receipts 20 cars.

Bradstreet's available supplies show an increase in wheat for the week of 5,354,000 bu. to a total of 320,683,000 bu. against 251,617,000 bu. a year ago. Contract stocks of wheat in Chicago increased 3,000 bu for the week, the total being 2,266,00 bu. compared with 1,200,000 bu. a year ago.

GERMAN REPUBLIC GREETS FIRST ROYALTY SINCE WAR

Berlin, Feb. 22—With ceremonies embracing the greatest pomp of its history, the German Republic, through its president and cabinet, today greeted their majesties, the King and Queen of Afghanistan.

Germany's first royal visitors since the war, with an entourage of 30, arrived at the Lehrter station in a five-coach special train from Berne, Switzerland.

JURY TO GET CASE

Wentworth, N. C., Feb. 22—Fate of Mrs. Alma Petty Gatlin, youthful alleged slayer of her father, will rest with a Rockingham jury of 10 farmers and two clerks today. The case was expected to get to the jury late in the day, only two closing arguments and Judge Cameron Macrae's charge to the jury remaining to be heard.

STATE OPENS PROBE OF MINE EXPLOSION

Search Continues for Bodies of Nine Men Missing in Pennsylvania Disaster

New Kensington, Pa., Feb. 22—While 100 rescue workers from all parts of western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and eastern Ohio probed the deep recesses of the Kinloch Mine of the Valley Camp Coal Co., near here, and an adjoining mine for nine unrecovered bodies, the state today opened an investigation of the mine disaster which claimed the lives of 12 miners.

Rescue workers, under the direction of the U. S. Bureau of Mines which has two rescue cars here, expect to locate the bodies of seven men in the Kinloch mine today. It was there that the explosion occurred late Monday night.

In the adjoining mine of the Valley Brick Co. they are searching for two more bodies of miners overcome when deadly gasses from the Kinloch mine spread to the nearby shaft.

State mine authorities, meantime, questioned the nine miners who escaped. Three of these were overcome by gas but they have recovered from the experience and are aiding authorities to determine the cause of the explosion.

REPORTED IMPROVING

Mrs. Rilla Peet, who has been ill at her home, 1014 E. Center-st, for the past week is reported to be slowly improving.

ONLY 14 DOGS IN COUNTY UNLICENSED

Report of Warden Shows There Are 4,372 Canines in This Territory

A detailed report of Marion County's first dog census was filed with the board of commissioners yesterday by Dog Warden Dale Rhoads, showing that the county's canine population totals 4,372 and that all but 14 were legally licensed at the time the report was filed.

The warden announced that he would round up the unlicensed animals at once. When this is done, the county for the first time in its history will have its entire dog populaton provided with licenses.

The total number of dogs in the county is considerably below forecasts made prior to taking of the census. Some officials estimated that the total would be in the neighborhood of 5,000 and others placed it as high as 6,000.

By far the largest number of canines is registered in the southwest section of the city of Marion, located south of Center-st and west of Main-st, the total there being 648.

1,679 in City

The total for the entire city is 1,679, other sections registering the following figures: northeast, 390; southeast, 260; northwest, 375.

The census in the county's 15 townships listed 2,693 dogs, as follows:

Grand Prairie, 110; Salt Rock, 124; Green Camp, 174; Claridon, 229; Tully, 182; Pleasant, 244; Scott, 90; Marion, outside of city, 292; Prospect, 207; Montgomery, 232; Big Island, 181; Waldo, 167; Richland, 215; Grand, 81; Bowling Green, 15*.

The cost of taking the census amounted to $535.52.

Warden Rhoads states that he expects to make a more detailed summary of the census record to show the various breeds of canines listed.

SENATE MAY REJECT NORRIS POWER PLAN

Disposition of Muscle Shoals To Be Debated in Upper House

Washington, Feb. 22.—The fate of the Norris plan for government operation of the huge $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project was in doubt in the senate today although Senator George W. Norris, Republican of Nebraska, had won his long fight for disposition of the property as a power project.

The Norris plan was under fire from two groups, one which opposed his plan for government operation and another which desired acceptance of the American Cyanamid Company's bid for the property.

The principal opposition, however, was centered on ending government control of the project and leasing it to a private power concern. The American Cyanamid company's bid appeared doomed to rejection because it was prefaced on operation of the project as a fertilizer plant.

Senator Norris announced he expected adoption of his plan but administration leaders were not so hopeful. An attempt to poll the Senate met with no headway as too many senators announced they would not make up their minds until after hearing the debate. The Norris plan was approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee by a vote of 11 to 4 and this action gave it an advantage over the rival proposals, both of which were rejected by the committee.

MAN RELEASED

INCOME TAX DEPUTY TO BE LOCATED HERE

Officer Will Assist Local Residents in Making Out Reports

Notices have been posted here announcing that a deputy from the internal revenue office of this district will be on duty at the Marion County Courthouse from March 1 to 15, inclusive, to assist local citizens in preparing their income tax returns.

Returns should be filed with the district internal revenue collector not later than March 15, the notice states. The tax will be computed on incomes for 1927.

No charge will be made for the deputy's services.

It is announced that a penalty of additional tax assessments and possibly imprisonment is provided for willful failure to make a return within the time required by law.

RALPH MILLER IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Justice Marshall Assails Youth for Bar Examination Scandal

Columbus, Feb. 22—Having pleaded guilty to a charge of contempt of court, Ralph Miller, son of Seba Miller, clerk of the Ohio Supreme Court, was a prisoner here today in the Franklin County Jail. The prisoner, a former attache in his father's office, was sentenced late yesterday by Chief Justice C. T. Marshall of the Ohio Supreme Court to serve 70 days in jail. Arraigned before the Supreme Court, Ralph Miller admitted that he participated in the solicitation of money from applicants who took the state bar examination.

The arraignment followed submission of a report to the Supreme Court by the special committee of attorneys chosen by the court to investigate accusations made against the prisoner. This committee comprised Attorneys Frank M. Raymond, chairman; James M. Hengst, and John F. Wilson, all of Columbus, and Samuel H. West and Leroy B. Davenport, both of Cleveland, all members of the Ohio State Bar Association.

Sentence Inadequate

Ralph Miller waived the reading of the committee's report. He was charged with having obtained sums, ranging from $50 to $500 from at least seven persons, mostly residents of Cuyahoga County, who were applicants for the bar examination.

Justice Marshall, sentencing young Miller to 10-days' imprisonment on each of the seven counts, declared that the sentence was "utterly inadequate" to meet the crime. He said that young Miller was "crude, ignorant and bungle-some" in his conduct while extorting money from the law students, who, it was claimed, he promised to aid to pass the state bar examination by raising their grades.

In open court, Justice Marshall asserted that Seba Miller, father of Ralph, is an honored state employe. Although, it was said, he had access to the files of the office, Ralph Miller was not an attache of his father's office during the time when he was alleged to have obtained money from law students.

The Packard Eight Sedan Limousine

The Supreme Combination of all that is fine in Motor Cars

The Packard Eight reduced in price

IF YOU are one of those who have longed to own a Packard Eight you will learn with interest that the prices of these world-famous cars, including all of the closed, Packard-built, custom models, have been reduced from $500 to $700.

For example, the seven-passenger Sedan Limousine, pictured above, was priced at $5,250 at the factory. The new price is $4,550.

Packard has lowered the prices of its own closed custom models in the face of the heaviest demand for Packard cars—both Six and Eight—ever experienced in its nearly thirty years of fine car building. The company is passing on to its clientele the savings effected through the expenditure of $9,000,000 in improved plant facilities.

Needless to say, there has been no change in quality. The new prices apply to identically the same models which previously cost so much more. The same complete custom equipment and unlimited paint and upholstery options are included.

A phone call will bring a Packard Eight to your door for you to demonstrate for yourself. All that we ask in return is the privilege of appraising your present car.
